Both state and defense announced they are ready for trial in the Price case. The purchasing agent is accused of defrauding the city in the purchase of disinfectants for various departments and also in the purchase of two motor trucks. White last week was convicted for his part in the alleged conspiracy and sentenced to serve three years on the gang and pay fines totaling $3,500.

A special venire of 100 men has been summoned and from this the Price jury is to be selected.

In announcing the naming of the committee to assist Mr. Boykin and the grand jury, officials of the contractors' association declared they wished it made known that the association was in no sense taking the part of the prosecution but merely desiring to aid in clarifying any situation which may appear to be muddled.

Letters About Committee.

Following are the letters of Solicitor-General Boykin and H. W. Roberts, executive secretary of the association, regarding the naming of the committee:

"Mr. Hugh W. Roberts, Secy.,
"Associated General Contractors,
"Rock Bldg.,
"Atlanta, Ga.

"Dear Mr. Roberts:
"Several matters have come up which involve the expert knowledge of the builder and contractor. I am writing to know if it would be possible for you to designate a committee from your association to advise with me in connection with matters requiring expert knowledge. I would deem it a gracious act on your part if you will undertake to supply me with such a committee with whom I can confer.

"I regret very much that I will not be in position to pay for such service, but the public's interest is so involved I feel that there are patriotic men within your group that will volunteer their services as requested.

"Assuring you of my deep appreciation for your assistance in this matter, I am

"Yours very sincerely,
"JOHN A. BOYKIN,
"Solicitor-General."

Letter to Boykin.

"Mr. John A. Boykin,
"Solicitor-General,
"315-318 Courthouse,
"Atlanta, Georgia.

"Dear Sir:
"Your letter of April 5, in which you asked that we designate a committee to assist you with expert advice, was received this morning. We take pleasure in complying. The committee, as appointed by our president, consists of Carroll Griffin, of the Griffin Construction Company, chairman; Hardy Padgett, H. Utterberg and Sam N. Hodges. The chairman of the committee holds himself in readiness to undertake any duty which you might desire to assign to him and associates.

"It is unnecessary to add that we are animated exclusively by desire that the facts be developed; that the people, through accurate knowledge, might free themselves from bondage. Although the members of this association are the recognized leading contractors of Atlanta, and although in several instances they have submitted the lowest base bids (notably on the Pryor street and the Mitchell street viaducts, and the city hall), they have not been able to secure any appreciable proportion of the city's business. Yet it is without animus that we comply with your request. If our government is as it is represented, it would be a privilege to aid in its restoration to a decent status.

"It should be a clean and shining thing, and not an Augean stable.

"Yours very truly,
"GEORGE BRANCH,
"G. C. OF AMERICA.
"By HUGH W. ROBERTS,
"Executive Secretary."

No Jury Session.

There was no session of the grand jury Monday, the scheduled meeting having been called off in order to allow Mr. Boykin and Mr. Howard to complete plans for the state's case against Mr. Price.

The grand jury is scheduled to meet at 10 o'clock this morning to consider routine business, after which it will take up the graft inquiry. Mr. Boykin is expected to divide his time between the Price trial and the grand jury. Mr. Howard chiefly directing the fraud charge prosecution and the grand jury during Mr. Boykin's absences, being under the direction of Assistant Solicitor Ed A. Stephens.

By unanimous vote Monday afternoon empowered Mayor I. N. Ragsdale to name a special committee of five to investigate fees paid to G. Lloyd Freacher, architect, for the $3,000,000 school construction program, and at the instance of Councilman Howard C. McCutcheon, of the second ward, included those paid to Mr. Freacher on the new Atlanta high school at Washington and Mitchell streets.

Alderman G. Everett Millican, of the tenth ward, offered the original measure. Mr. McCutcheon, who was chairman of the special city hall committee in charge of erection of the new municipal building, arose.

"I will vote for the measure if Mr. Millican will include payments made on the new city hall," McCutcheon said.

"I will be glad to accept the amendment," Millican replied.

Millican's paper was precipitated by criticisms of the fees, paid to Freacher, by attaches of Solicitor-General John A. Boykin's office.

Russian Writers Ask World Support

MOSCOW, April 7. (UN)—Seven literary societies representing the majority of novelists, poets and dramatists in the Soviet Union today called on writers throughout the world to support Russia against its enemies.

The organizations offered their services to the society of the godless in the fight against religion "as an answer to Pope Pius XI." In an open letter addressed to writers in all countries they declared:

"We Soviet writers solemnly undertake through writing and social work the lowest base bids (notably on the Pryor street and the Mitchell street viaducts, and the city hall), they have not been able to secure any appreciable proportion of the city's business. Yet it is without animus that we comply with your request. If our government is as it is represented, it

Chemical Sidelights

BY W. O. KEY, JR.

A study has been made of certain matters which concern the progress of chemical education in 13 southern states. There are 110 accredited colleges and universities in these southern states, 17 medical colleges and 12 schools of pharmacy.

Engineering experiment stations have been organized at a good many of the southern colleges and universities. Some of the institutions give courses in chemical engineering. Schools organized for the purpose of instruction or research exist in the fields of metallurgy, textiles, ceramics, sugar, cottonseed (xylose), petroleum, tobacco and rayon.

Eighteen new chemical laboratories have been authorized, built or materially enlarged since 1924. Thus as regards the larger colleges and universities, with a few exceptions, the building or space devoted to chemistry is adequate at the present time throughout this section. Leading chemists at the convention declared.

The greatest need of the south today, in so far as its educational facilities in chemistry are concerned, is for better working libraries in chemistry at many institutions. While an excellent technical library exists, a great number of other institutions are endeavoring to build up their libraries which will enable chemistry to take a large step forward.

The total amount of research work which is being carried on in the south, in connection with the colleges and universities is much greater than is generally believed, but the effort in this direction is by no means as great as it is possible according to leading experts at the convention. In the smaller accredited colleges in Georgia, for example, it is said, little research is being carried on. The teachers in chemistry in these institutions often have a total of from 20 to 25 hours teaching per week, due largely to the fact that the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the Southern States that "in general, two laboratory hours will be counted as equivalent to one lecture hour." This statement should be changed, it is said. A tremendously rapid industrial development is taking place in the south in chemical industries. At this time a solution of some of the problems of these industries should be attempted by an organized effort.

The large staff of newspaper correspondents covering the seventy-ninth semi-annual convention of the American Chemical Society resembles a similar staff at some of the largest gatherings in the United States. Expert news writers from leading journals all over the country, to say nothing of the chemical trade journals who have sent representatives to the Atlanta gathering.

First among those newsmen here are Howard W. Blackledge, science editor of the Associated Press, who ranks probably the first among the qualified reporters at the convention. he has discovered a brand-new refrigerant which promises to change the world's environment by applying a safe and non-poisonous cooling process to all countries. chemistry by X-rays. It is amazing to what diversified uses this new tool may be put and industrial laboratories have been quick to recognize its value. It reveals secrets which cannot be disclosed by any other means. Then, there is microanalysis, but this must be applied directly to the construction of the material. Under this plan of operation the daily receipts and expenditures and cash balance would be kept posted in these offices in the Atlanta city hall.

Other Branches Needed.

But, just as analytical chemistry is necessary to the other branches, the professor explained, it in turn draws on other divisions of the science for assistance. The application of it to general chemistry is one of the outstanding events in its history.

"The analytical chemist who is worthy of the name must be well grounded in physical chemistry," many other divisions of the society will hold meetings today, chief among which, besides the division of physical and inorganic chemistry, will be two group meetings involving the main body of delegates to the present convention. The symposium on analytical chemistry forms the main part of the first of these group discussions, while a second group session will be held under the auspices of the division of industrial and engineering chemistry, at which S. W. McCullie, state geologist for Georgia, will describe to the visiting members geological researches of interest in this state.

At noon today a luncheon in honor of visiting women of the society will be held at the Georgian Terrace hotel, followed by a sightseeing tour through the Druid Hills section with tea at the home of Mrs. Samuel Guy at 4 o'clock. In the evening a complimentary dinner will be given at the Shrine mosque, with entertainment by the Glimory Glee Club, followed by an informal dance.

Wednesday's program will consist of divisional meetings, during which many subjects of worldwide interest will be discussed in numerous papers prepared for delivery by noted chemists.

New Sugar Found.

Strawstacks and cottonseed are full of a new sugar, the secret of which was given to the Chemical Society Monday.

A formula for making it at about 5 cents a pound, a gift by the United States government to industry, was presented by Dr. W. T. Schreiber, of the bureau of standards. It opens one of nature's greatest storehouses, hitherto untouched by man because the sugar formerly cost $100 a pound.

The sweet is xylose—pronounced zee-los. Trees and many kinds of plants abound with it. The chemists were informed that xylose is probably the third most widely distributed organic compound in nature.

Little is yet known of its food value. Possibly persons with a sweet tooth may eat all they wish, for preliminary experiments indicate that it is not assimilated but passes through the digestive system without apparent effect. A statement from the news service of the society calls it a "non-fattening" sugar.

When it food uses prove small, xylose is an important commercial discovery. Dr. Schreiber calls it "a product whose potentialities are still to be fathomed, among a vast and unexplored supply of a very cheap raw material." It has been sought by industry for acid making and in some cases considered so useful that a price of 50 cents a pound was rated as economical.

From Cottonseed Hull.

The bureau of standards formula makes it of cottonseed hull bran. Dr. Schreiber says the United States can produce between 1,000,000 and 1,500,000 tons of this bran a year, now nearly all a waste product.

A meat substitute made from cottonseed was described by David Wesson, of Montclair, N. J.

It is a sweet, almost tasteless flour-like body," he said, "which will keep as well as wheat flour. It carries 50 to 60 per cent protein, or 2.12 to 3 times as much as is found in meat and available for human food. When properly prepared it is palatable and nutritious. It not only can be eaten but has been eaten by many people.

"When mixed with vegetable shortening and water to simulate meat, a meat substitute costing about 5 cents a pound can be produced. It can be used in hash, croquettes, meat loaf, sausages, sandwich fillings, etc. Such a product would be a boon to the poor.

The cotton crop contains enough protein to meet the needs of over 50,000,000 people."

will be entirely feasible to work out a satisfactory basis under which redemption of the work on the memorial can be undertaken with promise of ample funds for its completion without further delay.

It does not think it would be proper for me at this time," said Mr. McCord, "to discuss all the steps we have taken, but I will say that I am exceedingly optimistic over the prospect. We could secure from $75,000 to $100,000 I believe we could start work practically immediately on the original plan for the memorial and endeavor to completion, with money coming in faster than we could spend it."

New Body Recommended.

While Mr. McCord would not commit himself as to the lines on which his committee has been working, it is understood that these plans contemplate the amendments to the charter of the memorial association so that a new association to consist of small, actively working body of men and women of statewide prominence is the first step to be recommended. It is reported that if such a body can be formed, the Venables would agree to donate the entire side of Stone Mountain on which the memorial is to be carved, and that Borglum has given definite assurance of his willingness to complete the monument, with the inclusion of the figures started by Augustus Lukeman.

The proposed changes to the charter of the present association would, it is said, result in the elimination of all the present members and would call for the new association to take over all the liabilities and assets of the old association.

Tentative plans, it is understood, also would call for the seeking of quarters in the new city hall, with members of the new association serving without charge. It was pointed out that in this way many thousands of dollars could be saved per year which could be applied directly to the construction of the memorial. Under this plan of operation the daily receipts and expenditures and cash balance would be kept posted in these offices in the Atlanta city hall.

Firemen Overcome.

PORT ARTHUR, Texas, April 7. (AP)—Two firemen were overcome by burning sulphur fumes in a fire which destroyed one section of wharves and two loading chutes of the Union Sulphur Company at Sabine today. Damage was estimated at $25,000.

the company's founder, James A. Campbell, informed owner of more than 100,000 shares of stock, that he had decided to merge with Bethlehem.

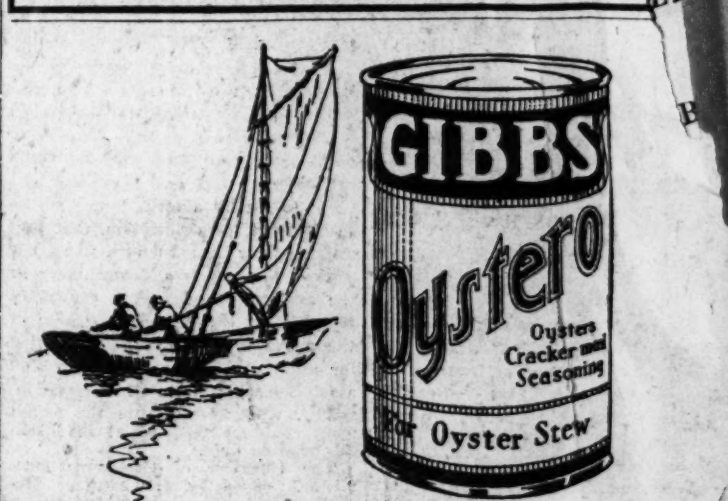

Prior to this time, according to Campbell, Eaton had been trying to force Sheet & Tube to combine with Republic Steel, a smaller company which he controls, and Eaton was not informed of the Bethlehem negotiations until after the directorate was elected.

It was here that the fight began, with Eaton and his associates aligned against the veterans Schwab, Grace and Campbell. Since then the conflict has been waged relentlessly, with each group fighting for the right to vote shares of Sheet & Tube's 3,000 stockholders at tomorrow's meeting. Eaton, with 120,000 shares already in his possession, like Campbell and Schwab, put an array of canvassers in the field and stockholders were solicited for their votes, or proxies. Eaton needs slightly less than 400,000 shares, or one-third of the total outstanding, to win.

As the battle entered its final stage, tonight both sides were claiming victory. Eaton denied he wanted Sheet & Tube for Republic.

"It is not that," he declared. "It is simply that I deplore the tendency of big business to be concentrated in a few hands in Wall Street. I believe it is dangerous to social and economically to the country."

PATRONAGE OF RAILROADS IS HELPFUL TO PUBLIC

Every improvement in railway service has brought benefit to the traveling and shipping public. For this reason the welfare of the railroads is a matter of public interest.

The railroads have made expenditures, built facilities and purchased equipment to handle the traffic of the nation promptly, safely and dependably. The Central of Georgia, for example, has a transportation plant that can handle 50 per cent more tonnage than is now moving over its rails.

The present standard of service is of such great value to agriculture, industry and commerce that the railroads are justified in asking the people of the country for their patronage in preference to competing forms of transportation. Assured of that business for which they have planned and built, the railroads can continue to provide expedited service. Without such patronage the public faces a sacrifice in the quality of railroad service or an increase in the rate scale.

The railroads cannot prosper under a combination of lessened traffic and decreasing rates. Unprosperous roads produce unsatisfactory service, and unsatisfactory service is harmful to the public welfare. When the public patronize the railroads they help themselves.

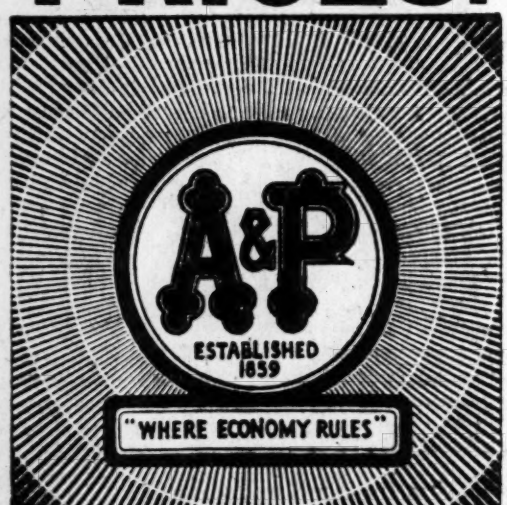

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

Only Twelve Days To Go In Extra Credit Offer

Constitution's Bargain Offer Gives Candidates Chance To Take Lead in Race.

Enters for Prize

Twelve days to go—And the biggest extra credit offer in The Atlanta Constitution's $25,000 prize campaign will be over.

Everywhere candidates are working fast getting new subscriptions to make $30 clubs, for each club of new pre-paid subscriptions earns an added bonus of 100,000 credits and each club of new contract subscriptions earns an added bonus of 50,000 credits. It is the biggest credit opportunity of the great prize campaign and all candidates should make the most of it.

The consensus of opinion among candidates is that this special credit offer period offers the best way to lay a foundation for credits that will win the $3,120 Pierce Arrow sedan and $1,000 in gold, the $2,835 Franklin sedan and $500 in gold, or one of the 16 other automobiles, or 20 radios, when the campaign ends May 31.

All-Important Date.

The all-important date just now, of course, is April 19, the close of the

How Often Are the Dividends Paid and When?

Preferred Stock dividends are mailed out by check every three months to fully paid shareholders. Dividends are payable on the first day of March, June, September and December. Many of our shareholders are having their dividend checks sent to their banks for deposit in their savings account. In this way they receive interest on their dividends, and thereby make their money do double duty. For any information concerning our $7.00 Preferred Shares, communicate with us, Southern Natural Gas Corporation, Rhodes-Haverty Building, Atlanta, Ga. (adv.)

Mrs. Maude Woolf, 304 Rawson street, S. W., has entered The Atlanta Constitution's $25,000 prize campaign and is taking advantage of the extra credit offer in her campaign for credits which will win the motor cars and other fine awards May 31.

100,000-50,000 extra credit offers and the $500 gold special prize offer. Candidates are not limited to just one club of $30 in new subscriptions. Every club or the pro rata over a club earns the extra credits. For instance: $45 worth of new pre-paid subscriptions will earn 150,000 extra credits and $45 worth of new contract subscriptions will earn 75,000 extra credits. The more new subscriptions turned in the more extra credits the candidates earn.

$500 Special Gold. All new subscriptions turned in from March 28 to April 19 will also be credited in the special gold offer. Five hundred in gold will be given to the seven candidates turning in the highest amounts of new subscription business during this period. The first award is $200, second $100, third $75, fourth $50, fifth $25, sixth $25 and seventh $25. These special gold prizes are in addition to the regular awards to be given at the close of the campaign and a candidate can win one of the special gold awards and also win one of the regular awards.

As matters stand now, only a few subscriptions are necessary to take the lead in the published credit standing. The entry blank entitles every entrant to 5,000 free credits, while 10,000 more free credits are given on the first subscription. MAN WOUNDED TWICE BY ESTRANGED MATE

Wounded in the right leg by two of five pistol shots alleged to have been fired by his estranged wife early Monday in the home of the latter's father on Howell Mill road, J. T. Snipes, 27, of 75 Georgia avenue, was reported not in a serious condition at Grady hospital Monday night.

Questioned by the county police, Mrs. Snipes told investigators she was awakened shortly after midnight by someone walking around her room. Taking a small-caliber automatic from beneath her pillow and switching on the lights she said that she saw her husband standing in one corner with a gun in his hand. Alarmed and apprehensive for her own safety, Mrs. Snipes said, she fired five times at her husband, shooting low.

County Patrolman J. O. Casey and A. A. Stovall, who were called to the scene shortly after the shooting, reported finding another loaded pistol similar to the one Snipes held in his hand when he was fired on. The second gun was in the pocket of his coat, they said.

From his bed at Grady hospital, Snipes told officers that he was married about three months ago in North Carolina, he and his wife returning to Atlanta immediately following the ceremony.

Mrs. Snipes said that she was afraid of her husband because he had threatened her life several times. She declared that she had taken out a peace warrant, and then when he came to her bedroom Monday morning she thought he meant to harm her. "I did not shoot to kill him," she maintained.

After her conversation with officers Mrs. Snipes gave them a packet of letters her husband had written her, in which he declared his love. It could not be ascertained early Monday night what charges, if any, would be preferred against Mrs. Snipes or her husband.

Plane Manufacturer Loses Life in Crash

SOUTH BEND, Ind., April 7.—(P)—Samuel B. Lambert, of the Lambert Aircraft Corporation of Moline, Ill., was killed this afternoon when the airplane which he was piloting fell about a mile south of the airport here.

Lambert was flying from Moline to Detroit in a small monoplane. Farmers who saw the plane fall said the engine seemed to drop out of the ship and one wing crumpled. Lambert had been bucking strong head winds. The aviator's body was crushed by the wreckage of the ship.

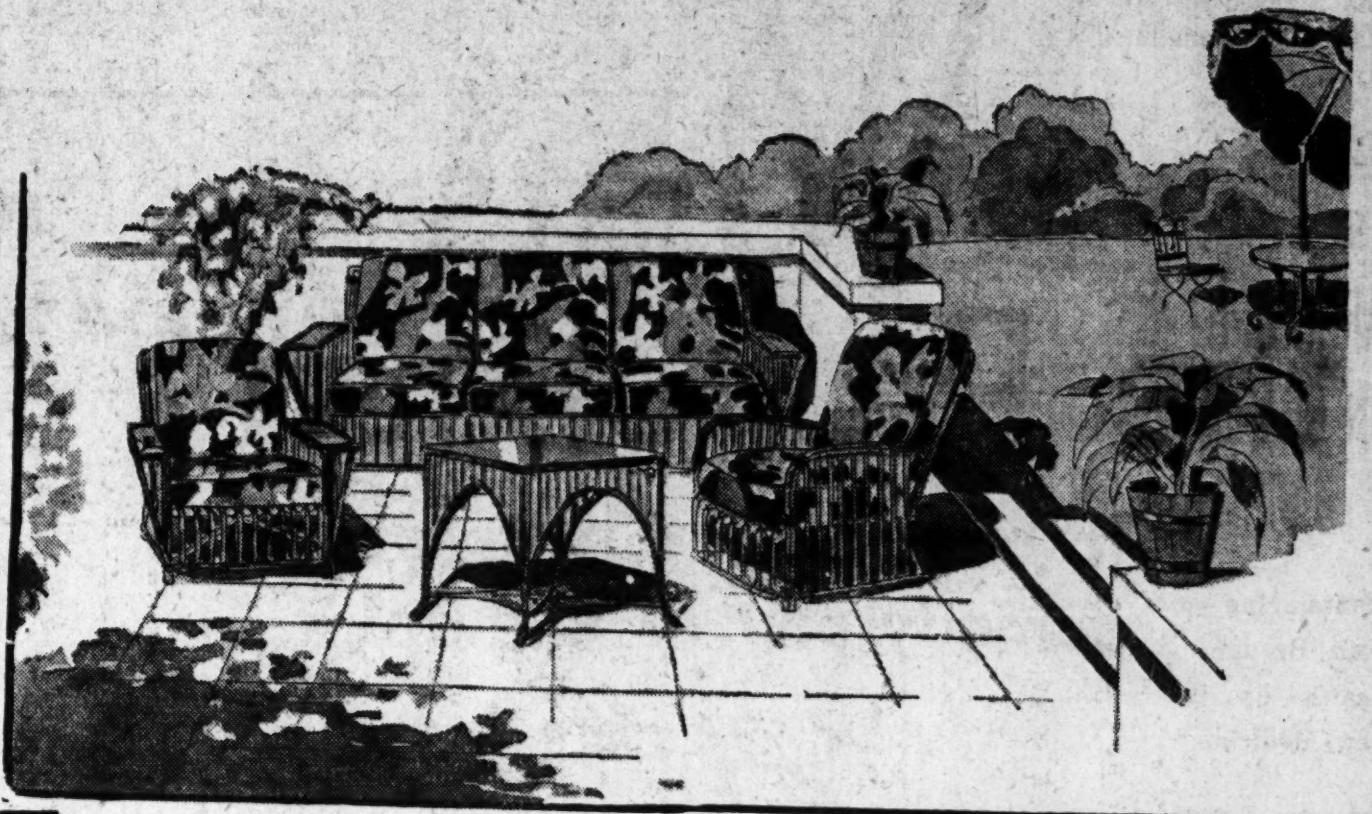

ST. LOUIS, April 7.—(P)—Samuel B. Lambert, killed today in an airplane crash near South Bend, Ind., was known for his daring in the air. He was a cousin of Albert Bond Lambert, dean of aviation enthusiasts here. George Lee Lambert, a son of Albert Bond Lambert, was killed in an airplane crash in St. Louis county last July.

Mail Pilots Killed.

LONDON, April 7.—(P)—A German plane carrying mail from Croton to Berlin crashed at Linsfield today at 4:15 a. m. The pilot and mechanic, its only occupants, both were killed. This night mail service had been in operation only two nights.

Workmen Begin To Remove Doctors' Building Wreckage

Cause of Disastrous Fire That Caused Damage of $1,000,000 Remains a Mystery.

With the cause of the fire that wrought nearly $1,000,000 in property and equipment damages Sunday night when the Doctors' building at 478 Peachtree street was practically destroyed, still a mystery, workmen spent all Monday in an effort to clear

SARGON PUT HIM IN SHAPE TO GO BACK TO WORK

Atlanta Man and Wife Both Brought Back to Health By Celebrated New Medicine.

The most convincing proof of the powers of Sargon comes from those who have put it to the test and are glad to give others the benefit of their experience. This new and modern compound has received the praise and acclaim of thousands who declare

Ask your neighbors, your friends or anyone else who has taken Sargon and hear for yourself the evidence of its true worth and merit. Case after case can be cited like that of L. B. Stephens, 359 Pulliam St., S. W., Atlanta, who is connected with the Crumley Advertising Co. He recently made the following statement:

"During Christmas week when we had snow and ice I fell and fractured my shoulder, and after this happened my health went 'all to pieces' and I wasn't able to go back to work. And I don't know when I would have been if it hadn't been for Sargon. 'I had been in tip-top health up to the time my health suddenly went back on me after the fall, and then it seemed like I just about lost all my strength and energy. My food didn't digest right. I was restless and nervous and didn't really feel good any time. I guess my liver was sluggish, for I had the worst kind of headaches and dizzy spells and was all the time taking laxatives for constipation. That was the fix I was in when I started Sargon. I might not have started it at all except that my wife had taken it and it had done her so much good. I knew it had to be a real medicine. And three bottles proved its worth in my case! I eat three hearty meals a day—just nothing I want—and my digestion is perfect. I sleep like a log, get up mornings full of energy and pep and feel like a different man. I'm ready to go back on the job again feeling as well and strong as I ever felt in my life—so there are two in my family that owe a whole lot of thanks to this wonderful medicine."

"Sargon Pills seemed like they were made for me! They got my liver working right, ended my dizzy spells. My constipation is entirely corrected and I never have headaches any more. Both my wife and I praise the Sargon treatment every chance we get."

The Sargon Man is at Jacobs' Main Store, 48 North Broad St., Grant Bldg., where he is meeting the public daily and explaining the merits of this remarkable new medicine. Sargon may be obtained at all Jacobs' Drug Stores throughout Atlanta—(adv.)

How to Heal Skin Diseases

If you suffer from skin eruptions of any kind, pimples, itch, tetter, ringworm, eczema, etc., a pleasant-oiled ointment, known as Tetterine, containing highly effective parasite, germ-destroying and skin-healing properties, never fails to bring quick and permanent relief.

Tetterine, by its clean, cooling, soothing, antiseptic effect, kills the parasites that bore into the skin, causing irritation and itching. Tetterine is sold and guaranteed by all druggists at 60c per box—(adv.)

ways use best oil—say expert mechanics

When you consider how much you paid for your sewing machine, vacuum cleaner, lawn mower, washer, and other expensive devices, don't you think it's foolish to try to economize on oil? The very best costs only a few cents a year—and is really cheapest in the long run.

3-in-One, a scientific blend of mineral, vegetable and animal oils, is made especially for lubrication of household devices. It cleans and protects as well as lubricates. 3-in-One costs more to make than ordinary oil but it costs less to use. If you know what expert mechanics know about oil, you'd never use anything else around the house. At good drug, grocery, hardware, department and general stores, in 15c and 30c bottles and cans. For your protection, look for the trade mark "3-in-One" printed in red on every package—(adv.)

CLEMENCY IS SOUGHT FOR MANY CONVICTS

Numerous friends and relatives of prisoners in Georgia's penal institutions and their attorneys appeared before the state prison commission Monday to file and argue applications for clemency.

Sessions of the commission will continue throughout this week, but if custom is followed, no decisions will be given at this time. Commission members said the cases would be taken under advisement.

Among those for whom application was filed Monday were: Garland Gignilliat, Fulton county, sentenced in September, 1927, to two to three years for larceny of an automobile.

George Campbell, Fulton county, sentenced September, 1925, three to five and two to five years for burglary.

Sam King, negro, Upson, serving life sentence since 1925 for murder.

J. C. Horsley, Troupe, sentenced January, 1928, five to seven years for embezzlement.

Henry Felder, Jr., Dooley, serving life term for murder, sentenced November, 1915.

Robert Rockmore, negro, Fulton, sentenced March, 1925, to 20 years for rape.

George Giddings, Lowndes, sentenced June, 1928, to four to seven years for robbery.

G. W. Wilbanks, Dooley, sentenced May, 1929, to one year and one day for manslaughter.

Children Escape.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—(AP)—Thirty-five school children were led to safety today after a 50-mile wind had threatened to demolish the structure. None of the children was injured. Considerable damage to telephone lines was reported in the wake of the storm and a negro was treated for bruises after he sported that the wind blew him down and rolled him over and over.

U. S. '30 BUILDING BILL TO BE $11,000,000,000

Economists Add Billion to Total Previously Figured.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT, United News Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Government economists here boosted by another billion dollars their construction estimates for this year. They place the total at $11,000,000,000 instead of $10,000,000,000 formerly reported.

Assistant Commerce Secretary Julius Klein said Sunday night in a radio speech.

Klein, a government authority on business conditions, described the estimated increase as "modest."

The $11,000,000,000 construction bill for 1930 represents public and private building and maintenance, including the activities of public utilities. The increase in the estimate is almost entirely in the field of commercial and industrial structures, and other private operations.

Klein made known that last month's building contracts increased 45 per cent over February to a figure only 5 per cent below March 1929, when business was going at top speed. He characterized this development as "one of the most strikingly impressive indicators of the anticipated dawn of a new day."

He contrasted the March report with that for January when construction was 21 per cent below a year ago, and with February, when it was 12 per cent below the same month last year.

"Construction makes jobs," Klein said. "Because it is so immediately bound up with other interests, it can stimulate, stabilize and steady the whole mass. Its influence is as healthy as it is tremendously far-reaching."

The assistant commerce secretary summarized the government's efforts to speed up construction and denied there has been any "over-stimulation" by rash or unjustified measures.

In 1930 federal expenditures for building and ground improvements will amount to $200,000,000, against $70,000,000 in 1929, he estimated.

Building activities under the 10-year program for new postoffices and the housing of other federal activities throughout the country "are rapidly getting into full swing," he said.

These include the army-post housing program, the completion of the Mississippi main trunk and lateral waterway system, and vast flood control works.

The treasury department has let more than 1,000 contracts for repairs to postoffices during the first three months of the year, Klein disclosed, and the bureau of yards and docks of the navy department has advanced nearly $2,000,000 worth of projects and the national park service is rushing plans for road work.

Historic Seraglio Palace Opened to Public Inspection

ISTANBUL, Turkey, April 7.—(AP) Once royal dispenser of terror and mystery to the mystery-loving world, Istanbul is now selling the last of her secrets.

Today, by order of the Turkish republic, the doors of the imperial harem of the Seraglio palace of the Ottoman sultans was thrown open. Then infidels and followers of the prophet alike passed, for the price of 25 cents, the threshold whose crossing would once have cost them their lives.

Repairs have been under way nearly two years to make ready this last portion of the Seraglio palace for opening to the public. For four and a half centuries this was the most jealously guarded corner of the vast palace, and of the vast Ottoman empire. Great walls, heavy bronze gates, thousands of soldiers without and hundred of eunuchs within kept inviolate the mystery of the imperial harem.

Now the public may stalk through the dusky labyrinth of rooms and corridors that seem to trail on and on indefinitely, one after the other, still faintly glowing with the same broad, hanging and silken couches, tiled walls and frescoed ceilings of the imperial days, but empty of the sultanas and dowagers, the eunuchs and thousands of slaves who lived their hidden lives within these walls.

Those who enter now will get more than their money's worth of beauty if they have an eye for inland wood, old rugs, old silks, and curiously wrought bronze. They will get their fill of shivers, too, if they are equipped with a bit of historical lore.

There are shivers aplenty in one small dark room where stands the bed in which the dowager sultana, Kermem, so beautiful even in her old age, that she was called "body of the moon," was strangled by Janissaries with the cords of her bed curtains. More shivers, too, in the cage-like room where Sultan Ibrahim the Mad, whose insanity had carpeted and hung the entire palace with fur, met the frequent Ottoman fate of strangulation.

Terror and majesty walk in the apartments of the Sultana Houssem, whom the western world knows mistakenly by the name of Bexelana. She was the Russian slave girl whom Sultan Suleiman, the magnificent, made his wife and of whom he said: "To be husband of this woman is more to be desired than to be the greatest sultan of the greatest empire in the world."

The powerful sultan's passion for this slave girl and her passion for power marked Ottoman history with some of its most sanguinary pages. Grand viziers who would not bow to the slave Sultana's will were murdered, and treacherously murdered, too, was the splendid Crown Prince Mustapha, whom his implacable step-mother, Houssem, could not let stand in the way of her complete control of the sultan and of the empire. There is one room of the harem apartments where the public will not enter tomorrow, or perhaps ever. Outside its heavily grilled windows, where 40 Moslem priests chant from the Koran year in and year out, the public may stand and peek.

Eczema Formed Blisters on Child's Face. Cuticura Healed.

"Eczema began to break out on my child's face. It looked red and rough at first and then formed blisters. She complained of it a great deal, saying that her face itched and burned. She was very cross and fretful, and restless at night."

"Other remedies were used but they failed to help her. Our doctor recommended Cuticura Soap and Ointment so we purchased some, and after using one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment she was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. R. U. Rodgers, Springville, Miss., July 25, 1929.

Soap 25c. Ointment 25c. and 50c. Talcum 25c. Sold everywhere. Sample each free. Address: "Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. H, Malden, Mass."

Thousands Are Troubled for Years and Tell of Quick and Easy Relief

INEXPENSIVE REMEDY COSTS ONLY 75 CENTS

"I'm so happy and grateful at being free of my old pile troubles I'm writing you to use my name if you want to," declares H. H. Nordman, retired farmer of Buffalo Center, Iowa. "I had the itching, bleeding, painful kind and I had them bad. I used all kinds of salves but found practically no relief until I saw Colic Pile Pills advertised in the paper and got some. Those Pills started doing me good the first day, and I had no trouble after I used the first 75c bottle, but I kept on using three bottles in all, and I am free of all signs of my old pile troubles. I sure am thankful and recommend Colic Pile Pills wherever I learn of somebody suffering as I formerly suffered," continued Mr. Nordman.

Thousands of men and women suffering with various forms of Piles have been happy to find salves, suppositories, etc., are no longer required. Just a couple of Colic Pile Pills with a swallow of water each meal is all needed for quick relief. Druggists here are authorized to sell on positive guarantee of satisfaction or money back without quibble or question. Or send 75c in stamps of coin to Colic Chemical Co., Brentwood, Md.—(adv.)

McLEOD IN CAPITAL TO SEE ABOUT JOB

WASHINGTON, April 7.—George B. McLeod, United States marshal for the southern district of Georgia, arrived in Washington today for a conference with department of justice officials regarding his application for reappointment. He is expected to remain here for several days.

Leaders of the department of justice are expected to recommend republican organization in the state, headed by Josiah T. Rose, of Atlanta, recently endorsed G. F. Flanders, of Swainsboro, for the post. Reports current at the time had it that Flanders, heretofore prominently identified with the anti-Rose faction in the state, was given the endorsement in an effort to obtain his support in the republican state convention, delegates to which were elected last week.

The appointment comes under the jurisdiction of the department of justice, officials of which have not yet indicated whether they will be guided by the Rose recommendation. Only recently the department declined to accept the recommendation of Mr. Rose, internal revenue collector for Georgia, on the northern district marshalship, now held by L. H. Crawford. Although the Rose organization had strongly urged Walter Ackerman, of Cartersville, for the post, officials decided to reappoint Mr. Crawford.

Subsequent charges against Marshal Crawford by the Rose group, which sought to connect him with the collection of patronage funds in the state, have resulted in the appointment being held up pending an investigation, but expectations are it will be sent to the senate within due course.

The Brookhart senatorial investigation committee is scheduled to hold a meeting this week for the purpose of determining whether it should conduct a further inquiry into patronage conditions in Georgia, South Carolina and Tennessee. Such an inquiry has been urged upon the committee, it is known.

While Senator Smith W. Brookhart, of Iowa, the committee chairman, has declined to discuss the charges, pending action of the committee, they are known to have a bearing on the alleged trafficking in postmasterhips and other federal offices in connection with efforts to build up dominant republican factions in the several states. One of the lines of inquiry suggested concerns the activities in Georgia of Durelle Cheney, an inspector of the postoffice department, who is reported to have spent some weeks in Georgia engaged in political maneuverings as an aid to the Rose faction.

Woman Dry Crusader Freed of Rum Guilt

PAMPA, Texas, April 7.—(AP)—Miss Beulah Allred, prohibition crusader, charged with possessing and transporting intoxicating liquor she claimed was purchased as evidence for a grand jury, was freed today.

Clifford Braly, district attorney, said he investigated the charges and, while finding Miss Allred technically guilty, there was no actual criminal intent, "but rather a misguided impractical idea on her part that such a course would be a means toward aiding in law enforcement."

Miss Allred was arrested as she was displaying liquor she said she bought to bear out her contention that no effort on the part of officers was being made to stop bootlegging in Pampa. The dry crusader remained in jail rather than obtain her freedom on $500 bond. The charge was dismissed today when her case was called for trial.

FLORIDIAN CAPTURES FISH IN STEAM SHOVEL

LA BELLE, Fla., April 7.—(AP)—"Mac" Mullin, steam shovel operator, combined business with pleasure by using his half-ton "dipper" to catch a 13 1/2-pound bass. While at work dredging a ditch leading into the Caloosahatchee river, Mac said he saw a large black bass jump out of a lateral stream. Although the fish was 40 feet away Mullin said he cast his bucket over the finny giant, scooped it up and dropped it atop the bank. Mac and his oiler dived off the machine and tackled the fish before it could wiggle back into the river. Tonight they and friends will dine on fresh water bass.

CAPONE AIDE CLAIMED BY CHICAGO POLICE

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., April 7.—(AP)—Governor Carlton today honored a requisition for the extradition to Chicago of Jack McBurn, said to be Al Capone's chief aide.

McBurn, held at Miami, is to be extradited to answer to a charge of carrying concealed weapons. The warrant for his return to Chicago is being mailed from the governor's office today to Sergeant William Drury, of the Chicago police, who is at Miami awaiting it.

The governor today also honored requisition papers for the return from Orlando to Indiana of James Trout, to answer to a charge of murder in the first degree, and James Jeech, indicted for auto banditry and burglary.

an OPEN LETTER to the hundreds of thousands of owners of General Electric Refrigerators, NOT ONE of whom has ever paid ONE CENT for service

THE General Electric Refrigerator has so many exclusive features for the convenience of its owners that we wonder if every owner is aware of them all—and enjoying the full benefit of them.

Before the General Electric Company ever offered its Refrigerator to you, fifteen solid years of research were spent in studying your needs, your problems, and your desires. It is this preliminary study which eliminated all necessity for afterthoughts in the design of the General Electric. In the General Electric Refrigerator which you bought you will find all the refinements of electric refrigeration—all the extra conveniences—all the useful accessories included.

You will find, for instance, the unique Multi-Temperature Feature. If you have not already discovered this feature, just try it out, and you will have still another reason for being glad that the Refrigerator you chose was General Electric.

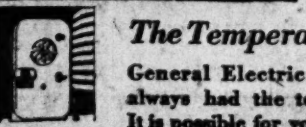

MULTI-TEMPERATURE FEATURE

- 1 In the sanitary porcelain Super-freezer you have a freezing temperature that will make dozens of ice cubes in a hurry—and the most delicious frozen dishes.
- 2 In the Chiller, below the Super-freezer, you have a temperature that will keep your frozen dishes ready to serve—a temperature so cold that you can safely store away all your extra ice cubes in it.
- 3 In the spacious General Electric cabinet you have an unflinching temperature well under the 50-degree mark—a temperature that you can trust to keep your food fresh, safe and wholesome.

And the Multi-Temperature Feature is only one of the many extra conveniences which you—as an owner of a General Electric Refrigerator—may enjoy!

AS LOW AS $205 (at the factory)

The Temperature Regulator

General Electric Refrigerators have always had the temperature regulator. It is possible for you to regulate the temperature of your refrigerator to that degree of coldness you may happen to desire. When General Electric engineers planned the Temperature Regulator, they thought of your convenience. They put it on top in plain view—right at your finger-tips.

Every General Electric Refrigerator gives you MULTI-TEMPERATURE FEATURE

1 In the Super-freezer

A quick-freezing temperature for making ice cubes, frozen foods and desserts.

2 In the Chiller

An extra cold temperature for storing of frozen foods and extra ice cubes.

3 In the Cabinet

A temperature of under 50 degrees, for keeping food fresh, safe and wholesome.

NORRIS INSTITUTES CAMPAIGN FUND PROBE

Nebraskan Moves for Sweep- ing Investigation of Expenditures.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—(AP)—Drastic procedure was initiated today by Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, in the senate to hasten consideration of his resolution proposing a special committee of investigation into the campaign expenditures of the senatorial candidates.

The Nebraskan moved for the discharge of the elections committee from further consideration of the resolution and gave notice he would ask a vote on that motion tomorrow. He explained later he had received complaints on campaign expenditures from Illinois, Pennsylvania, Nebraska and other states where senatorial contests are being waged.

Indignant over the Norris motion to discharge his committee from consideration of the resolution, Chairman Shortridge of the elections committee said later it was "unnecessary." He said he had deferred consideration of it during the tariff and Muscle Shoals debates with the consent of the Nebraskan.

Explaining that he had attempted to get the committee together previously and that he was now engaged for five hours daily on the tariff bill conference committee, the California senator promised consideration of the resolution sometime this week. Senator Norris said he did not want the investigating resolution to be directed at any particular state. He said he had received complaints from many states. The hotly contested campaign between Senator Deneen and Representative Ruth Hanna McCormick for the Illinois republican senatorial nomination will be settled at the polls tomorrow. This is one of the campaigns which the Nebraskan said he wanted inquired into.

Norris himself is a candidate for renomination on the republican ticket in Nebraska this year. He said he had received some complaints from that state.

"I want all charges investigated," he explained. "Let this committee, if it is authorized, go into all the campaigns where there is necessity."

In Pennsylvania, Secretary Davis is running for the seat of Senator Grundy. The republican primary will be held next month.

Church Looted.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., April 7.—(AP)—Theft of $800 in cash and $1,200 in checks from the safe of the First Baptist church of Knoxville was discovered today.

Police expressed the belief that the thieves remained in the church after Sunday night's sermon and robbed the safe after the pastor and congregation had departed.

SECOND WILD WELL BLOWS IN OKLAHOMA

50,000,000 Cubic Foot Gusher Comes as Mary Sudik Is Checked.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., April 7.—(AP)—Oklahoma City's oil field fast was approaching normalcy tonight with the No. 1 Mary Sudik gusher apparently under control and crews of workmen at other operations firing up boilers for resumption of drilling after an 11-day letup due to the gusher's wild flow.

The No. 1 Precure gas well which blew in wild early today also was almost harnessed although in danger zone, a mile square around, still was watched. The gusher's flow was estimated by oil operators at only 50,000,000 cubic feet daily, but, because the well is located in a congested mushroom area, near the southeastern corner of the city limits, stringent regulations were necessary.

A paved state highway passing through the danger zone remained closed tonight. Hardly had a new day dawned over the newly capped Mary Sudik before the gusher tore in unexpectedly as the drill penetrated a vein of oil.

In the case of the Mary Sudik well, the Precure No. 1 blew in before a master gate had been installed. Steps were taken to stop the flow of the gusher with mud. Engineers have indicated the same procedure may be followed before an attempt is made to take oil from the Mary Sudik. No announcement had been made tonight as regards the tamed gusher but engineers of the Indian Territory Illuminating Company, which owns the well, remained in conference all day and part of the night discussing the situation. The new gusher also is owned by the I. T. I. Co. Company.

Work was resumed at all of the shut-down leases in the south end of the oil field this afternoon and the danger zone was declared open by the state fire marshal. Crews plowed the oil-soaked sod to reduce the fire hazard.

Largest Stone Forest Found in New Mexico

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 7.—(AP)—Discovery of perhaps the largest and oldest of all petrified hardwood forests was made known Sunday by Professor George R. Wieland, of Yale University, who performed field work in the San Juan basin of New Mexico the last two summers.

There he gathered specimens of hardwoods, petrified cycads, palm-trees, clumps of tree fern roots, the more usual pines, together with some bones of turtles and dinosaurs, all of which lived about 40,000,000 years ago, according to the professor.

In the period known as the Mesa Verde division of the upper Cretaceous time the great interior "Pierian sea" stretched from the region of the present Gulf of Mexico to the Arctic ocean and the present San Juan basin region constituted a great flat country of swamps and bays.

"These fossils from the Mesa Verde of the San Juan basin in their extraordinary variety make possible one of those rare opportunities when we can bring to light a landscape of bygone times," Professor Wieland said. "The investigation of the new material is well under way. Professor Samuel J. Record, of the school of forestry, has verified the determination of several of the species of hardwoods which are of remarkable preservation as seen in thin sections under the microscope."

"Clear up your skin,
dear, and you will be popular, too"

If you desire a clear skin you must keep your blood in good condition. You owe it to yourself. Your friends expect it of you.

S.S.S.

may be found in every good drug store in America.
Thousands of users have testified to its benefits in unsolicitited letters of gratitude. Seek energy, vitality and a clear skin through the remedy which is made from strictly fresh vegetable drugs and has stood the test for over 100 years. Sold in two more economical.

S.S.S. Co.

A lovely, clear skin, is within your reach

WITH the last blemish gone, confidence returns. More friends, more invitations—more good times. With the joy and pride of possessing a clear skin, self-respect increases.

First impressions cannot be good without a clear skin—first impressions are quickly made and are not soon forgotten. Old friends may excuse pimples and secretly sympathize, but new acquaintances may not be so charitable. Skin blemishes are not inviting. Neither can they be covered up. They embarrass. Hold people back. Steal away joy and happiness.

A lovely, clear skin, is within the reach of all. To you who have lost it, hope is offered, that you, too, may have a beautiful skin, rose-petal in texture, pretty as a picture and without a single pimple.

Skilled physicians recognize the appearance of skin eruptions as being an indication that the body's power of resistance is low. The natural way to remedy this condition is to restore the red-blood-cells to normal.

This is why so many thousands have been enabled to free themselves of these unsightly blemishes and painful skin annoyances by taking a course of S.S.S.

S.S.S. helps Nature restore the blood to its normal state. Healthy blood nourishes the body and works against infection and disease.

Without plenty of rich, red blood there would be no strong, sturdy, powerful men, or healthy, beautiful women.

If you are troubled with so-called skin disorders, take a few bottles of S.S.S.

A Clear Skin Comes From Within

Sixteen 'Jakeralysis' Cases Recorded in Columbus, Ga.

Six New Cases in Past Five Days, Says Dr. Morgan, Who Has Given Disease New Name.

COLUMBUS, Ga., April 7.—There are 16 cases of Jamaica ginger paralysis here and six of them have occurred within the past five days. Dr. John P. Morgan, of the North Highlands section of Columbus, made this statement Monday afternoon.

"Jakeralysis" is the name given by Dr. Morgan to what has been called "Jamaica ginger paralysis." He asserts that while the name is not an official medical term, it is likely to become as well established as "alcoholic paralysis" if the people continue to drink so-called Jamaica ginger, which is no better than sheep dip, according to Prohibition Commissioner Doran.

"This Jakeralysis may seem funny," said Dr. Morgan in a statement to the press, "but it is becoming serious. It is a pitiable sight to see strong, well people stricken down so suddenly; my attention is called to several new cases each day. I have attended some of these cases but have not been able to assert or verify the contents of their drinks. From research work within the last 10 years on neurasthenia and paralysis, I have noticed several paralyses resulting in the drinking of large quantities of pure Jamaica ginger; this led me to believe ginger was combined with alcohol and in many instances nicotine, which gave it double or triple detrimental effect on the nervous system."

Dr. Morgan then quoted Dr. Bland, of the University of Chicago, as follows: "Out of one thousand of my personal investigations of paralysis and sudden death I did not find a single case that was not a tobacco user in some form. He explained that this did not include accident, injury, etc. From my examination and observation of said malady, I find it to be similar to, or a combination of three forms of paralysis, namely, progressive paralysis (locomotor ataxia), paraplegia and cerebral hyperemia; the last which I also noticed in alcoholic paralysis, which is a congestion of the brain, especially the medulla oblongata."

First Aid Treatment Suggested.

Dr. Morgan then added the following statement, in which he suggested the practical form of first aid treatment in "Jakeralysis" cases:

"It may be that there are more cases in North Highlands, where I am located, than elsewhere in Columbus,

Ford Ends Brief Visit On Georgia Plantation

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 7.—(AP)—Ending a two-day visit to his plantation in Bryan county, Henry Ford left here Monday for Detroit via the Central of Georgia railroad. Ford arrived here Sunday night from Ways station in his private car, which was brought to Savannah on a special train of the Atlantic Coast Line.

Delay in Shipment Of Melons Is Seen As Early Crop Fails

MACON, Ga., April 7.—(AP)—W. E. Stewart, president of the Georgia Melon Association, said Monday that melon shipping in Florida and south Georgia will be approximately two weeks late in starting this year.

Mr. Stewart has just returned from West Baden Springs, Ind., where he attended the annual meeting of the American Melon Distributors' Association. Growers reported that shipments from Florida would begin between May 20 and May 25, while the south Georgia crop would come in about June 25. Middle Georgia growers were urged by the association to plant so that the crop will come to market about July 20. Buyers will begin coming to Florida about May 10, Mr. Stewart said, and will work back up through Georgia, reaching here about July 20.

Officers of the melon association, elected at the convention, included H. L. Cartwright, of Tifton, Ga., first vice president; L. E. Harvey, of Atlanta, second vice president; and J. L. Leonard, of Cincinnati, Ohio, president. Mr. Stewart said that the association is interested in the watermelon business, was named chairman of the executive committee.

Family doctor's laxative instead of harsh purges; trial bottle Free

Dr. Caldwell's prescription cannot form the cathartic habit. It can be given to the child whose tongue is coated, or whose breath is fetid, or has a little fever. Or to older people whose bowels are clogged. Its ingredients stimulate muscular action and thus aid the bowels to more normal functioning. The pureenna and laxative herbs in Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are good for the system. So do not hesitate to use it when there's biliousness, headaches, or any sign of constipation. Your druggist has this world-famous prescription in big bottles. Or, write Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, Monticello, Ill., and a free trial bottle will be sent to you, postpaid.

MEN AND WOMEN NEED NOT HAVE GRAY HAIR

Nature Will Keep the Hair Youthful, Free of Gray

LIFELESS GRAY HAIR REGAINS OLD BEAUTY

Everybody knows if color glands and hair roots are healthy and active the hair will continue indefinitely a rich, natural color entirely free of gray or streaked locks.

A doctor several years ago asked himself this question: "If I can stimulate digestion, liver, heart, etc., with a tonic, why not rub a stimulating tonic into the scalp that will revive those inactive glands so nature in her own natural way will resume putting plenty of pigment into the hair tubes—surely the hair will then resume its original beautiful shades of youth regardless of user's age or previous condition of their hair."

FOWLER IS INDICTED FOR HUTCHINSON KILLING

Postal Mail Clerk Will Go to Trial in Griffin Wednesday.

GRiffin, Ga., April 7.—W. W. Fowler, postal mail clerk, was indicted for the killing of Paul Hutchinson, Southern railway flagman, here Monday by a Spalding county grand jury. The case has been set for Wednesday in a special term of superior court.

More than 65 witnesses, about equally divided between prosecution and defense, have been subpoenaed for the trial which will be held in the Griffin superior court, Judge W. E. H. Seavey, Jr., presiding. Branch and Howard, Atlanta attorneys, and C. C. Byars, of Griffin, will represent Fowler and Len Guillebeau, also of Atlanta, will assist Solicitor General E. M. Owen, of the Spalding district, in prosecution of the case.

A feud which had existed for more than a year, according to statements made at the time of the shooting, and which flared up afresh when a Southern Railway passenger train on which both were "running" was stopped at Griffin, is said to have led to the killing. Fowler claims that he shot in self-defense.

State Deaths And Funerals

J. WILMOT JACKSON. ROSWELL, Ga., April 7.—J. Wilmot Jackson, 81, died at his home Monday morning. Mr. Jackson came to Roswell eight years ago from Tallapoosa, Md., to take charge of the Roswell mill as general manager, which position he has filled since that time. He was an outstanding man in church, civic and social life. He was a member of the Men's Bible class of the Methodist church and was president of the school besides his wife one daughter, Rose, and a son, J. A. Jackson. He leaves two brothers and one sister, all of Greenfield, Ga. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

MRS. R. W. DEYANE. QUITMAN, Ga., April 7.—Funeral services were held this afternoon at 4 o'clock for Mrs. R. W. Devane, who died at her home near Quitman. Mrs. Devane was 60 years of age. Her death terminated a brief illness of Brill Fever. She was a member of the Baptist church and before her marriage was Miss Florence Parker, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Parker, who died of Typhoid. Her husband and a sister, Mrs. C. D. Tooner, of Fairburn, Ga., and a brother, W. C. Parker, of Quitman.

Services were conducted by the Rev. C. W. Henderson, and interment was in Lebanon cemetery.

FUNERAL OF MR. QUARTERMAN. REINSWICK, Ga., April 7.—Funeral services were held Saturday for Mr. Quarterman, 53, who passed away at his home near Reinswick. Mr. Quarterman was a member of the Methodist church and was a member of the board of directors, and James L. Leonard, of Cincinnati, Ohio, president. Mr. Stewart said that the association is interested in the watermelon business, was named chairman of the executive committee.

Death Car and 3 of Injured

Wreck of car in which J. W. Ballew, of Atlanta, was killed and three of the seven injured as a result of a head-on collision of automobiles two and a half miles south of Barnesville yesterday.

Ballew's car, en route to Milledgeville, struck a car in which Fred McDermott, 25, professional golfer of Indianapolis, Ind., was traveling home from Florida. McDermott and his wife (at left) sustained severe lacerations about the face and their two small children (in circle above) received bruises. Edward Thompson and his son, 15, and Carlton Grant, all of Atlanta, passengers with Ballew, were cut and bruised. Ballew died a few moments after the crash.

ATHENS, Ga., April 7.—(AP)—The census office for this district today reported its record as a co-operation of the census takers the trouble of coming to him.

Favorable Report On Two Markers

WASHINGTON, April 7.—(AP)—The Edwards bill asking a $100,000 appropriation for a memorial to mark the spot at Jasper Springs, Ga., where Sergeant William Joseph, Revolutionary hero, fell, was modified to provide for a $2,500 memorial tablet before it was reported favorably today by the house library committee.

The Tarver bill authorizing erection of a marker at New Echota, Ga., site of the capital of the Cherokee Indians prior to their removal west of the Mississippi river was reported favorably today by the committee on Indian Affairs.

Robber Escapes With $700 Loot

CORDELE, Ga., April 7.—(AP)—Police today were searching for a bandit who robbed the manager of a flour store here late Saturday night. As the manager of the Birdseye Flour store was closing his place of business, a man approached him demanding that he "stick 'em up." The robber re-inforced his demand by firing a pistol. The shot went wild. The robber grabbed a bag the store manager was carrying. It contained about $700 in cash.

Officer Is Held In Caddy Slaying

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 7.—(AP)—Joe B. Harvey, special policeman at the municipal golf links, was held for action of the grand jury today by Police Recorder John E. Schwarz on a charge of murdering George Green, negro caddy, on Sunday, March 30.

The caddy was shot in the back and paralyzed from the waist down and lingered two days. The policeman in his own defense testified at the preliminary hearing that Green put his hand to his pocket as though to draw a weapon. Other witnesses testified they saw no gesture of this kind. When shot Green had a pair of brass knuckles and four golf balls in his pockets. The policeman said the negro caddy had been stealing golf balls.

Senate Passes Harris Measure

WASHINGTON, April 7.—(AP)—The Harris bill to authorize the Georgia highway board, the South Carolina highway department and the city of Augusta and Richmond county, Georgia, to construct a free highway bridge across the Savannah river at Augusta, was passed today by the senate and sent to the house.

HOOVERCRATS FAIL TO SHOW IN HANCOCK

SPARTA, Ga., April 7.—The republicans of Hancock county held a meeting at the courthouse here Saturday afternoon with quite a number of the members present. No Hoovercrats were in the body. The session was most harmonious and G. C. Walker, assessor here, was elected as Hancock's delegate to the state republican convention in Atlanta on April 19. Mr. Walker is an active line republican, having been connected with the party all of his life and is an ardent supporter of President Hoover. He expects to attend the meeting. The meeting adjourned after all of the business before the body was disposed of.

DEMURRERS OVERRULED IN COTTON CONTROVERSY

FITZGERALD, Ga., April 7.—(AP)—Demurrs of two New York cotton firms in the suit of the state bank-liquidation department versus Nesbitt, Wainwright & Company, the Cordelle Cotton Company, and Oris Brothers & Co., and Hopkins Dwight Company, both of New York, were overruled Monday by Judge J. A. McDonald in superior court here.

The court held in substance that 400 bales of cotton involved in the liquidation were subject to treatment as assets of the Exchange Bank of Cordelle, now in the hands of the state banking department for liquidation.

J. S. CALLAWAY NAMED MAYOR OF GREENSBORO

GREENSBORO, Ga., April 7.—An election for mayor and council of the city of Greensboro was held Saturday. There was only one ticket in the field, Mayor John S. Callaway and the councilmen being re-elected without opposition. For ten years Mr. Callaway has been mayor of Greensboro and the affairs of the city are in good condition. The councilmen are: J. F. Hunter, T. H. McGibony, R. C. Townsend, W. H. Childs and C. E. Robinson.

GEORGIA BAPTISTS MEET AT THOMASVILLE

Leaders From All Parts of State Attend Opening of Sunday School Convention.

THOMASVILLE, Ga., April 7.—(AP)—A two-day meeting of the Georgia Baptist Sunday School convention opened here Monday night, with church leaders and workers from all sections of the state in attendance.

Scores of persons arrived in Thomasville during the day and convention officials said that attendance during the sessions would reach approximately 600.

The Thomasville Baptist church, host to the convention, was the scene of the first meeting Monday night. A musical program, directed by James H. Harris and assisted by Mrs. A. C. McCreary, of Atlanta, pianist, was one of the features of the opening session.

A pageant, "A Quest for the Best," directed by Mrs. O. M. Gerald, of Atlanta, was on the program for the meeting. The pageant illustrates the development of the modern departmental church school.

Every phase of Bible school work is to be discussed at the meeting by a staff of expert teachers and lecturers brought here from various parts of the south.

A group of men prominent in church activity in Georgia and in the south were introduced at the Monday night meeting as leaders of the convention. The group includes Dr. John J. Hurt, of Jackson, Tenn.; Dr. B. Y. Williams, of Kingston, N. C.; Dr. H. M. Fugate, of Valdosta, Ga.; Rev. William Russell Owen, of Asheville, N. C., formerly of Columbus, Ga., and James W. Merritt, of Gainesville, Ga., executive secretary of the Georgia Baptist convention.

Most of the leaders and teachers will attend a similar convention to be held at Griffin, Ga., April 9 and 10.

Georgia Pastor Robbed of $25

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 7.—(AP)—A burglar Sunday night stole $25 in cash and the regular Sunday collection from the coat of Rev. C. J. Carpenter, rector of St. John's Episcopal church, as the minister conducted the evening service.

The thief entered the rector's study from a side door and ransacked the office. In addition to the money, and the pastor's contribution to the collection, the burglar took a wallet containing the minister's identification card and motor license.

"It was a lucky thief," said Mr. Carpenter. "On most Sunday nights he would have found nothing but a wad of sermon notes in my wallet."

WHEELER COUNTY G.O.P. NAMES YEAR'S OFFICERS

GLENWOOD, Ga., April 7.—At the regular meeting of the republican county convention at Alamo, the county seat of Wheeler county, Saturday about 200 whites and negroes assembled for the purpose of electing officers and those to represent the party at Atlanta, April 19, in state convention.

The convention was opened in regular form by the regular county chairman of Wheeler, a negro. Following the question of who were qualified to vote, 147 whites produced affidavits showing that they were. This outnumbered the negroes almost three to one. Dr. J. F. Hall was then elected temporary chairman and the following permanent officers were elected for the year: C. M. Jordan, chairman; Dr. J. F. Hall, vice chairman; Mrs. N. A. Wynn, secretary; district chairman, Alamo, S. A. Lee, Glenwood; C. L. Galbreath, Landsburg; N. A. Wynn, Fork; W. R. Windham, Erick; Clean Brown; Springfield, H. E. Burkhalter.

Suicide Theory Is Advanced In Mysterious Wilkins Case

No Light Shed on Slaying of Pullman Porter—Inquest Will Be Continued in Locust Grove Today.

LOCUST GROVE, Ga., April 7.—(AP)—Puzzled officers hoped Monday that the coroner's inquest at Locust Grove Tuesday would throw light on the mystery surrounding the death here Saturday of J. H. Wilkins, negro Pullman porter, whose body was found tied to a sapling with his knees touching the ground and his skull fractured.

Findings of a bundle of rags on the railroad's right-of-way near McDonough, eight miles north of the spot where the negro was discovered, was reported by Henry county officials today. They did not give out any details connected with the find.

Theories of prearranged slaying and of suicide were among those speculated on during the day. The prearranged slaying suggested that the body may have been hurled from the train and some one waiting near-by carried it to the clump of trees. A set of tracks which led from the railroad to the body did not fit the shoes of the dead negro. A highway passes within 15 feet of the spot where the body was found.

Supporters of the suicide suggestion pointed to an open window of the Pullman in which Wilkins had been sleeping. This they could suggest no solution of the mystery.

When the dog disappeared Editor Daniel broadcast through south Georgia and north Florida a town's description of Bobs, along with the information regarding his fondness for ice cream cones.

Sam C. Short, of the Rotary Club of Thomasville, Ga., passed the information along to his home town police chief, Andrew B. Milton. Carrying an ice cream cone with him, Milton searched his town. Presently he came upon a dog. The dog promptly sat up and asked for the cone.

QUITMAN, Ga., April 7.—(AP)—Because of a police chief's logic in hunting an ice cream eater with ice cream, Bobs, who strayed or was stolen from home four weeks ago, is back home.

Bobs is a fox terrier—and not an ordinary dog, his owner, Royal Daniel, district governor of Rotary International and Quitman newspaper editor, would have you know.

Lowe Assails Farm Board At Atlantic Cotton Meeting

Shorter Hours, Same Wages, Urged by Kendall, of Boston, Head of Five Textile Mills.

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 7.—(AP)—The Atlantic Cotton Association went on record here this afternoon in opposition to issuance or promulgation by the government of any new standard style types.

No details of the action were made public. Action was taken in executive session. Officers of the association said the body's policy on a number of other matters was determined but did not immediately give out the nature of the business transacted.

The closed meeting began soon after President R. T. Lowe, in an address, had declared that the federal farm board in its cotton dealings is "attempting to do something absolutely uneconomic."

The association's general policy toward the farm board was expected to come up for consideration at Monday's executive meeting, but action on it was delayed until Tuesday.

Lowe recommended to members of the association that they take up with representatives in congress the possibility of changing the legislation creating the farm board.

"It is useless to take the matter up with Chairman Legge and Carl Williams," he said, "as they are creatures of the law."

He said he would recommend a committee to study the problem and formulate an association policy.

"We have gone much further in our efforts to work with the federal farm board than the farm board has gone to work with us," Lowe told the cotton merchants and exporters in his annual address.

"The farm board has not helped the price of cotton. A good many

Defendant Is Freed, Witness Given Fine

COLUMBUS, Ga., April 7.—(AP)—Trial of a pistol case in city court today ended in acquittal for the defendant and a $25 fine against the chief prosecution witness.

Sam Elliott faced the court on a charge of pointing a pistol at R. C. Adams. Both are farmers, living on adjoining places.

While Adams was on the stand it was discovered that there was a pistol in his pocket.

While the jury was voting a verdict that freed Elliott, Adams pleaded guilty to a charge of carrying a deadly weapon at court and having a concealed weapon.

He was fined $25. The fine was paid.

He said that without its activity the decline to the present low levels would never have taken place. It has practically killed outside speculation support without furnishing anything to take its place.

He said that the policy of the board so far seems to be to "help the various co-operative marketing associations, to get them on their feet and to increase their membership."

Some of our members are alarmed over the possibility of the co-operative associations jeopardizing their business and indignantly that our government seems willing to use our hard-earned tax money to help put us out of business.

The farm board, he suggested, could do a great deal toward promoting better staple, reducing the cost of production, encouraging living at home, and in general improving farm conditions.

"All organizations are vitally interested in this," he said, "and are willing to work with the farm board to that end."

Shorter Hours, Same Wages, Urged. Henry Kendall, of Boston, Mass., head of five textile mills in North and South Carolina, told members of the Atlantic Cotton Association, in session here, Monday that unless the textile industry takes care of its own problems in a satisfactory manner, "public opinion will step in and do the job for us."

"The textile industry," Kendall said, "is in a position to control its own problems. Our small percentage of export, only 1 per cent, means that we can balance our supply with demand."

He described the industry as "disjointed," saying it was following policies which have been discarded in other industries.

Discussing labor conditions in the mills, Kendall said that "mill owners have five textile mills in North and South Carolina, and long hours are actually an economic boomerang. They have meant that for certain years the south has been a net importer of an over-production periodically recurs."

"Overproduction means curtailed employment and reduced earnings. The latter means lessened purchasing power. The new and sound practice of other advanced industries is to maintain purchasing power first."

Urges Shorter Hours. "Curtailed earnings of operatives through shut-downs, occasioned by overproduction are a deadweight on the whole textile community. To form shorter hours with maintenance of present wages, if adopted voluntarily and without coercion throughout the industry would bring consumption and production closer together. Since these will come anyhow later on, it is sound and sensible to apply the corrective from within by voluntarily co-operation rather than to be forced into it with all the bitterness of coercion. Strong hands have goods are turned out in such small, inefficiently run mill which has no direct contact with the market has no economic justification. Better merchandising is needed."

"It is more than a coincidence that the companies which are growing are doing a good merchandising job. More attention to research, in every department, is essential," Kendall said. The speaker is head of mills located at Newberry, Edgefield and Camden, S. C., and at Paw Creek, N. C.

POLK COUNTY G. O. P. ELECTS CHAS. ADAMSON

CEDARTOWN, Ga., April 7.—At a meeting of the republican county committee of Polk county Charles Adamson, president of the Cedartown Cotton Export Company, was re-elected chairman, and J. Preston Mayfield will serve as secretary. Delegates chosen were: Charles Adamson, Sr., Charles Adamson, Jr., and A. B. Matthews, of the Goodfear Clear Water mill.

The meeting was entirely harmonious. The Polk county delegation is not committed to any faction, but it is interested solely in reform of the republican party in Georgia, so Chairman Adamson stated.

Mrs. Searcy Given Loving Cup As Griffin, Ga.'s, First Citizen

GRiffin, Ga., April 7.—(AP)—Stressing the fact that a woman, and especially a mother of five children, had continued so much to the life of Griffin, linking public service and home life that she was named the city's leading citizen for 1929, Colonel L. T. Goodrich presented a silver loving cup, the concrete token of a city's appreciation and esteem to Mrs. W. E. H. Searcy, Jr., here Monday night. She is the first woman to receive this honor.

Colonel Goodrich referred to the early history of Griffin, which is now 90 years old, and mentioned the large number of useful and public spirited citizens, whose presence was indispensable during this time. But he especially stressed two, Gilman J. Drake and Douglas Glessner. The one was one of the most public spirited citizens of the past, a man who was active in school work and in forming the volunteer fire department and organized the City National bank. The other was one of the most forceful editors in the state, a man who did much to build this whole section. Said Colonel Goodrich: "The one was the father of this woman whom we have come to honor tonight, and the other was the father of the Griffin News, the newspaper which annually gives this cup for meritorious service."

"It is most appropriate that a woman and especially a mother—should have contributed so much to Griffin that she has won this outstanding honor. She looks tonight as if she might be one of those children. But she is really a grandmother."

"It is particularly typical of her," he continued, "that when the war broke out she sent her son to the front while she stayed at home and labored unceasingly with war work, rather than that she tried to keep him safe."

He touched on other phases of Mrs. Searcy's work which has embraced all of the women's organizations in Griffin, and which has been especially outstanding during the past winter, when the need for charitable and constructive work in the less fortunate homes is always more necessary.

Mrs. Searcy is president of the Women's Club, the Red Cross chapter and the Clubhouse Corporation and is past president of the American Legion Auxiliary and the Boynton chapter, U. D. C.

ANTI-MALARIA BLAST WILL OCCUR TUESDAY

MILLEN, Ga., April 7.—(AP)—Georgia health authorities are prepared to deal a blow Tuesday to malaria, considered the great scourge of this section and at the same time to claim more than 600 acres of fertile farmland. Alligator lake, 14 miles from Milten, will be emptied when a thousand pounds of dynamite tears away a hill, cutting a drain.

Apparently fed from the bottom by a fresh water spring, the lake stretches over a large area with no visible outlet. The blasting is scheduled to start about 1 o'clock under the direction of L. M. Clarkson, director of the sanitary engineering division of the state board of health, and L. J. Messick, of the DuPont Powder Company. The cost of drainage will be less than $1 per acre, officials stated.

The pond is said to be alive with many kinds of fresh water fish and for that reason, in addition to the attraction of the blasting demonstration, a large crowd is expected to crowd the banks of the lake, wade into the water and partake of the bountiful supply of fish.

The demonstration will be witnessed by Dr. Abernethy, Butler Thomas and Andrew A. Acree, board of health, officials of Milten, Jenkins county and hundreds of other interested citizens.

Barrett Denies Plea of Reece

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 7.—(AP)—Judge W. H. Barrett today denied a motion for new trial filed by James T. Reece, who was convicted in Atlanta in February before Judge Barrett in federal court, on a charge of selling narcotics.

Reece had been tried three times, each hearing resulting in a mistrial in Judge Samuel H. Sibbey's court. At the fourth trial he was sentenced to serve four years in the penitentiary.

The motion for new trial was made on the grounds that the evidence was trapped into selling the narcotic by the arresting agents.

Reece, a conductor on the Atlanta & West point railroad, had been tried three times in the federal court here, each trial resulting in a mistrial.

NO EXTRA SESSION!

The intimations of a probable

"call session" of the legislature soon to deal with the fiscal problems of the state will cause widespread apprehensions.

The public justifiably dreads the resembling of the very body that recklessly and irrationally produced the deplorably unbalanced condition between the state's revenues and the appropriations they improvidently made.

Sane thinkers are asking what the legislature could do in a called session to reduce and extinguish the deficits they created? Can they repeal or trim the appropriations, or suspend the functions of the government to fit funds in sight, or find new revenues sufficient to pay the millions of dollars now in default and other millions yet to ac-cure in the operations of 1930 and 1931?

There is absolutely no warrant for the people to believe that the legislature will show more business facility, statecraft and common sense

this summer than they did last summer. In the face of a great volume of wise warnings they plunged into extravagant appropriations without calculating the revenues they had provided for the state. They then fell upon the governor with vehement assurances that there would be ample funds to pay the bills and over-persuaded him to sign their measures.

Now it is up to the governor to ignore those cocksure legislators and let the past responsibility rest squarely upon the shoulders of the men whose lack of financial calculation and legislative skill produced the deplorable condition that shames and cripples the state.

There are pressing demands upon the state from its schools, institutions of charity, Confederate pensioners and hand-to-mouth servants; demands which ought not to be deferred until a bewildered legislature is reassembled to wrestle with its own bad work and indefinitely delay relief measures.

The governor has power to borrow $2,500,000 and tide over the situation. There is no argument against that in the fact that the state would have to pay interest for the money. Against that put the fact that the suffering persons whom the state owes are paying a larger interest because they must borrow hither and yonder on their unpaid claims against the state. The whole people can easily pay that interest than their employees.

The cost of a call session of the legislature, with its questionable results, would be greater than the interest to be paid upon the tide-over loan.

It will be cheaper and better for the people by half to have the governor borrow the needed money up to the limit of his authority than to call back the legislature with the larger chance that they will make bad matters worse rather than better.

SAM D. JONES.

The demise on Sunday of Sam D. Jones takes from the civic and business life of Atlanta yet another of those accomplished and forceful spirits who have contributed so long and so largely to the growth and fame of the city.

Mr. Jones came to Atlanta 32 years ago from distinguished service in his native Virginia as a lawyer, educator of young women in a cultural college, and with large reputation as a strong lover of literature and art. He entered here into business and financial activities of progressive character and easily became a leader in the movements and organizations which sustain the advances and prosperities of the city.

In all his relations with his fellow-citizens, social, cultural and the sterner matters of business expansion and financial stability, he displayed the chivalrous qualities of his Old Dominion breeding, combined with the energy and ambitions of the "Atlanta Spirit," which had won him to citizenship upon our people.

Having lived to ripened years in the front rank of a progressive people, and having served the common welfare with industry and success, he passes from mortal associations with an honored name and leaves rich memories with all who knew and esteemed him as neighbor, friend and fellow-citizen.

THE CHEMISTS ARE HERE.

Atlanta, speaking for herself and for the south, cordially welcomes to our house and hospitality the distinguished members of the American Chemical Society. Their talents, accomplishments and importance in the constructive processes of our modern scientific civilization place them in the forward ranks of the nation's benefactors.

The rapid and amazing advances in chemical science applied to the industries and improvements of life in most of its vital phases mark a distinct epoch in human evolution. The chemist and his laboratory have taken rank with the statesman and his capitol, the banker and his currency, the merchant and his factory and ships. The hands of these expert magicians with the elements of nature are found now in every activity of life from the humblest kitchen to the great and humming hives of the largest utilities of the nation and the world at large.

To welcome a convention of such researchers, retrievers of riches and power, and ameliorators of the conditions of the generation living and generations to be, is to honor a tribe whose names and deeds will find permanence in the roster of the race's most famous benefactors.

A NOBLE PHYSICIAN.

In the magazine of The Constitution of Sunday was carried an interesting biographical sketch, with portraits, of Dr. William H. Welch, head of the Johns Hopkins Medical School at Baltimore and the accomplished dean of American medical education. Today he becomes 80 years of age and the happy event will be celebrated in medical centers of the nation, and particularly so in the nation's capital where President Hoover will personally voice national honor to Dr. Welch in person.

It stands to the credit of this great physician that he introduced the laboratory method of experimental pathology into the medical schools of America and that his process of training men for the medical profession has been approved and adopted around the world. Humanity owes to him a great debt of gratitude for the discoveries in healing that he has made and for the new order of detecting and treating the germs that prey upon the human organism.

It is highly befitting that a scientist of so great genius and achievements in human beneficence should receive in his octogenarian anniversary the honors of a grateful people.

THE THREE-POWER PACT.

The formation of a three-power pact at London between the United States, Great Britain and Japan on the matter of naval establishments as between themselves cannot be regarded as a substantial step in the business of preventing war and promoting world pacification, but it is a step in the right direction.

With France and Italy standing out from their own naval policies and with an explosive feud subsisting between them on the subject of Mediterranean sea preponderance and defense against each other, there will remain the daily possibility of a war between them the international incursions of which no one can predict.

A three-power pact, such as suggested, will enable the contracting powers to limit temporarily some of their naval building plans and expenditures, but no one of them could afford to relax its alertness and readiness for an unwanted but inescapable war started by France and Italy.

The diplomatic hope that a tripartite pact for a naval holiday of five years between the three major sea powers would, by a sort of force of sympathetic gravity, soon draw the recalcitrant powers into it has little warrant in the psychology and ambitions of the two large Latin powers. It is a millennial hope very subject to certain defections.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

Old Lenten Sermons.

This is Lent, the time of penitence.

The spiritual descendants of Bossuet and Fenelon are holding forth from the pulpits of France, albeit no longer with the severity and personal allusions to individuals in the congregation as once was the practice in the middle ages. There was, for instance, that preacher, Jacques Legrand, who thundered in public against Queen Isabella, who had come to church very much décolletée (discovers usque omibulicum), or Jean the Little, who shouted in the presence of the king that any citizen present had the full right to assassinate the monarch if he persisted in being a tyrant. Jean was known as "God's Nightingale."

His song of murder would have landed him in the cage very quickly these days. In Flanders the personal allusion from the pulpit at Lenten time is also on the decline. My grandfather, however, could recall how he as a boy had heard the famous Vicar of Wiersbeke preach a sermon so short and still so effective that the peasants hung their heads in terror.

It went something like this in a most savory east Flemish dialect: "When our Lord on the day of judgment shall ask me: 'Vicar of Wiersbeke, where are they sheep?' I will not say a word back. And when our Lord shall then ask me a second time (with a rising voice), 'Vicar of Wiersbeke, where are they sheep?' Then I will not answer him yet. But when our Lord shall ask me for a third time (thundering), 'Vicar of Wiersbeke where are they sheep?' I will reply: 'Lord, they were not sheep, that flock Thou gavest me; they were a pack of scurvy wolves. Amen!'"

Balfour and Zion.

Though Lord Balfour was often pictured and indeed himself rather created the impression of a die-hard Tory of the old school, an unbending aristocrat and irreconcilable conservative, he has in reality been one of modern England's most effective preachers of democracy. The most irreconcilable elements were bound up in the extraordinary personality who became the champion of the Jewish people at Versailles and their advocate for a national home of their own in the councils of humanity. A review of his life would show that only the most profound questions of human activity, only the most momentous events had ever been able to stir Lord Balfour into anything approaching enthusiasm. His indifference at times was astonishing to his best friends.

Mr. Wyndham once said during a debate when Balfour was yawning and dandling his legs: "Arthur isn't interested. Nothing will rouse him. He knows there was once an ice-age and that some day there will be an ice-age again." "If in the last 100 years," he once said, "the whole material history of civilization has altered, we owe it neither to politicians nor to political institutions. We owe it to the unending efforts of those who have advanced science as to those who have applied it." The magic of modern science enthralled him. Einstein's theory of relativity was an event of first magnitude in world history to him. Politics was a game, skillfully played, without unworthy motives that he assailed the lower strata of politicians. But politics was never recognized as a science. It was a mere sport, a game to be enjoyed. There were no conscious scientific efforts, that he took their side and even participated in the opening of the Hebrew university, Tel Aviv, significantly started with a faculty of biochemistry. Health Talks

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY.

THE SCANDAL OF TONSILLITIS.

W. W. WARD, OF FOCAL INFECTION.

Ten years ago even the layman had a vague conception of what doctors call "focal infection." A painful majority of people who have suffered from it, they called it a bad guess. I hold no brief for the focal infection principle and I certainly do not wish to see it applied to any particular gang, organization, band or clique of doctors. What I see here is simply the truth as I see it. A matter of fact is that the boys of the medical profession can only grit their teeth and wish me dead—they were not challenged what I publish as truth, which is sufficient evidence I think, that what I say here is scientific, right and unassailable. Once in a while some peevish of our esteemed medical organization does venture to make a dig at me or my teachings in some obscure place or in some indirect way. It ought to be apparent to intelligent readers, however, that when I, a physician in the best of professional standing—I'm not boasting but just reminding some of the medical brethren who like to live in the country, that I, along with some 90,000 other physicians, am a Fellow of the American Medical Association, and no other physician in America has better standing than I have—our readers ought to comprehend that I am not given to the practice of printing things here just because some one has published them. I can't see how the health of the lay reader is benefited by his learning today that Drs. Banzki and Rattibone believe the "common cold" is caused by a filterable virus, and then learning tomorrow that Dr. Grapenbush finds "colds" are the consequence of change of weather or maybe alcohol.

The focal infection principle is an example of the thing I'm talking about. I call it a principle, not a theory. It is a very sound and very old one, almost as old as our knowledge of infection. It is as true and as valuable a principle of practice today as it has ever been. The popular craze to sacrifice tonsils, teeth and occasionally other structures, on the mere theory or fancy of weather or maybe alcohol, is a case in point.

Not a Puzzle Contest

The Atlanta Constitution's $25,000 prize campaign is NOT a puzzle contest. There are no puzzles to solve. Credits will win the regular awards and these credits are given for securing renewal and new subscriptions to The Atlanta Constitution. The prizes will be awarded in the divisions and districts to the candidates securing the greatest number of credits. Should there be any ties, those tying will receive equal awards. You do NOT solve any puzzles or anything of the kind in case of a tie. The campaign will NOT be extended—it positively ends May 31. Every active candidate is bound to receive a reward for their efforts, as cash commissions will be paid to all active non-prize winners.

Two Plans Offered For Obtaining Subscriptions

Credits are all you need to win one of the awards and credits are given you for securing renewal and new subscriptions to The Atlanta Constitution. You may get these subscriptions anywhere and from anyone and two plans are offered to you for obtaining them.

You can take subscriptions by contract, whereby the New subscriber signs to take The Constitution for a period of 6 months or 12 months and they pay the carrier each week for the paper. You do not collect any money whatever for these subscriptions.

Or you can take prepaid subscriptions from both Old and New subscribers and they pay in advance.

The Atlanta Constitution's plan of taking ONLY contracts on NEW subscriptions and paid-in-advance on both Old and New makes it fair for all candidates as it precludes any possible chance of an agent or carrier to turn over to a candidate hundreds of OLD subscriber's contracts which would be very unfair to those working for their subscriptions. The subscriptions are verified—bona fide—and the workers receive the rewards.

There Is a Prize for You!

How Long Would It Take You to Save $4,120?

If you saved $4,120 or $3,335 or perhaps even less in a few months or a year, you'd feel that you were getting along in the world at a pretty good clip, wouldn't you? Or if you invested a very little money and received dividends up into the thousands you'd be ready to give Wall Street a few pointers. And with good authority, too.

Leaving all "ifs" aside, The Atlanta Constitution is offering you an opportunity to do far better than that, not in years but in a FEW WEEKS. Through its $25,000 prize campaign offer you can actually clear up in value to the amount of $4,120 by May 31—and in your SPARE TIME at that!

There's not a single element of uncertainty connected with The Atlanta Constitution's prize offer. The awards to be given during the campaign total in value over $25,000 and many of them total sums ordinarily representing years of savings and sound investment. The winners of the regular awards will be selected on the basis of credits alone. And the ONLY WAY that credits can be obtained (other than the 5,000 credits given upon entry) is by securing renewal and new subscriptions to The Atlanta Constitution.

Money is only valuable for its purchasing power. And the best of reasons for working, and saving, are represented in the long list of The Constitution's splendid awards. A $3,120 Pierce-Arrow Sedan and $1,000 in gold ($4,120 total value) is the First Grand Prize award. A $2,835 Franklin Sedan and $500 in gold ($3,335 total value) is the Second Grand Prize award. There are 16 other valuable motor cars in the prize list besides 20 Atwater Kent Radios and $500 in special gold awards, and in addition to generous cash commissions for non-prize winners.

They needn't be a far distant goal to look forward to. One of them can be yours in a very short time, not through many months or years of patient accumulation, but for a few weeks of stimulating extra hour effort. And you can say it by getting in the campaign TODAY.

Crisp Succeeds Wallace Wade as Athletic Director at Alabama

ROBINS BEAT CRACKERS, 8-5; PLAY HERE TODAY

Have you been invited to take part in the new football picture they are making in Hollywood? What?

Freddie Sington, the Alabama tackle, has. So have Gene McEver, of Tennessee; Peter Pund, of Georgia Tech; "Bull" Brown, of Vanderbilt, with several precincts not yet heard from.

The story that these favorite sons had been invited to take part in a Warner football picture was fired out last Saturday night and made the first sports page in nearly every newspaper in this section, one of which this was whom.

Beneath all the gratis publicity and behind the whole racket I seem to discern the fine Italian hand of Dan Michalove, who is an executive with the concern.

Dan figured it all out, including, probably, the fact that it was raining and no ball game would grab useful space.

It was a good stunt and will be plenty costly, but it panned out reams of publicity.

VANDY'S 'B' TEAM.

Dan McGugin, at Vanderbilt, is busily pursuing his plan to stage games at home for a "B" eleven while the varsity is on the road next fall.

The "B" team will be composed of players who do not quite make the varsity grade. The idea has been successfully demonstrated in the Western conference.

Coach McGugin hopes the plan will spread among his opponents until when Vanderbilt plays, say, Tech in Atlanta, the "B" teams of the two institutions can play in Nashville. And so on.

A PROHIBITION MOVE.

Yes, but think of the dismay of the old grad who passed out in the middle of the first half and wakes next morning to read among the scores where Vanderbilt defeated Tech, 13 to 0, and Tech defeated Vanderbilt, 12 to 6.

OTHERWISE, A TOTAL LOSS.

From the writings of Bob Murphy, in the Knoxville Journal, one reads the following summary of spring football practice at the university:

The most important happening of spring practice was the discovery of Harry Robinson, a youth who gives promise of becoming a passer extraordinary.

Tennessee has more good tackle prospects for 1930 than ever before in the history of the institution.

Next year's starting backfield will find McEver, Dodd and Hackman back at their same old posts with Bill Cox favored for the fourth position.

Buddy Hackman appears 25 per cent more elusive than in 1929.

Malcolm Aitken, Ralph Still and Hoyt Smiley are three tackles any coach would write home to the parents of.

Jimmy Clemmer and Morton Derryberry convinced Mayor Neyland that they are improved football players.

Tennessee will be equipped with the best passing attack of any Southern conference team. Take your choice from the rest of the field.

Oh, well, what's the use of playing at all next fall. Everybody might as well organize "B" teams and play for the B-title.

A FEW OTHER CHAMPIONS.

Coach Harry Gamage, of Kentucky, recently was quoted as picking Vanderbilt and Georgia as the best in the conference football field.

An expert whose name escapes me said the Kentucky-Alabama game next year would decide the championship.

The conference championship never before has been determined so early in April.

TULANE IS READY.

And if that is not impressive, listen to this: The Tulane athletic board is in the midst of a big campaign selling football season tickets for 1930.

"Sell Out the West Side of the Stadium Before June 1" is the slogan.

That is downright disrespectful to the opening of the baseball season which is right on top of us.

THIS IS AWFUL.

Be that as it may, the basketball team that won the national championship in Chicago for the second time used the five-man defense.

If that does not discourage you, nothing ever will. Brother Keeler can express himself on that subject better than I can.

Powell Kayoes Father Lumpkin

IRONTON, Ohio, April 7.—(AP)—Dick Powell knocked out Roy "Father" Lumpkin in the fourth round of their scheduled eight-round fight here tonight.

The bout was a renewal of a grudge fight that started when the heavyweights were opposing players on the football field.

Lumpkin, backfield star of the Portsmouth Spartans' grid squad, held his own only in the first round, which ended in a draw. Afterward Powell, who played end for the Ironton Tanks, bitter rivals of the Spartans, had Lumpkin at his mercy.

Early in the fourth round Lumpkin, former Georgia Tech star, was unable to stand further punishment and went down for the count of 10.

Lumpkin was sued for divorce today by his wife, Mrs. Edith Dopes Lumpkin, 20. Mrs. Lumpkin charged extreme cruelty, gross neglect and failure to provide.

Florida Stadium Contract Awarded

GAINESVILLE, Fla., April 7.—(AP)—Contract for the erection of a 22,000 seating capacity unit of the University of Florida stadium, was awarded to Winston & Penney, Gainesville, on a bid of $118,215.80.

The contract provides that 12,700 seats or temporary seats be made ready for the Florida-Alabama game next November 8. Work on the project begins immediately.

Y. C. A. A. Teams Open April 19

Southside Baptist and Bethany Methodist entered the leagues sponsored by the Y-Church Athletic Association at the meeting held Monday night at the Y. M. C. A. They were assigned to the Dixie league, which will be composed of eight clubs. The other leagues will operate with six, with all but the Sewanee, which is a one team, completed.

The opening games of all leagues were pushed back one week and the opening runs will be fired on Saturday, April 19, instead of the 12th, as was first planned. This was deemed necessary to permit all clubs to secure more practice, which has been hindered by the late departure of winter.

The season will consist of three rounds of games in the six-club loops while the Dixie will play but two.

This will bring the season to a close the latter part of July so that the league and association series, which will be the best two games out of three, can be completed while baseball weather prevails.

Any team wishing to play in the Sewanee league, which is one of the two fastest in the association, can secure a berth by applying to Major Trammell Scott, 66 North Broad street, at once. Umpires wishing to officiate in these leagues should also register at the same place.

German Cup Team.

BERLIN, April 7.—(UN)—The German Davis Cup team which will meet England in the first round of the European zone Davis Cup play in London April 24 was selected today.

The members will be Daniel Frenn, Dr. Heins Landmann, Dr. Heinrich Kleinschroth and Dr. W. Desmet.

ALABAMA MAKES HENRY G. CRISP ATHLETIC HEAD

Tide Coach Succeeds Wade—Head Coach Is Yet Unnamed.

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., April 7.—(AP)—Henry G. Crisp, for ten years a member of the University of Alabama coaching staff, today was appointed athletic director, succeeding Coach Wallace Wade, who last week resigned to become athletic director at Duke University. The appointment becomes effective September 1, 1931, when Wade's contract expires.

An announcement of the appointment of Crisp was made late today by Dr. James J. Doster, chairman of the university athletic committee. Wade will continue at the head of the athletic department until his contract is completed.

Paul Burnum, an alumnus of the university, who for the past five years has coached the Tuscaloosa high school teams, has been added to the university coaching staff. His teams have not been defeated during the five-year period and only one tie game has been played. He will take over his new duties May 15.

Dr. Doster said no action has been taken in connection with the selection of a head football coach to succeed Wade, who served in the dual role of athletic director and head football coach.

After his graduation from Virginia Polytechnic institute in 1920 Crisp came to the University of Alabama coaching staff. During the 10 years that he has been here he has been identified with nearly every athletic activity.

As assistant line coach he has been a big factor in the strong lines for which Alabama football teams are famous. He coached basketball, and during the season just completed sent his team to the conference championship. Until the advent of Coach Jess Neely at the university Crisp handled the basketball team also. He aids in track and is the head trainer in football.

Crisp's activities in athletics are considered remarkable in that he had only one hand.

Haresnape Quits At Daytona Beach

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., April 7.—(AP)—Resignation of Val Haresnape from responsibility for further direction of the 1930 speed trials was submitted today to the city commission.

Haresnape, former secretary of the coast board of the American Automobile Association, was employed by the city in January to plan and direct the trials March 15 to 30 inclusive. An indefinite extension of the trials was granted last week to Kaye Don, British driver seeking the world's record, since adverse beach and weather conditions and minor mechanical difficulties on his car, the Silver Bullet, had made a satisfactory attempt impossible.

With Haresnape ill, the commission in executive session Saturday, delegated administrative duties for further trials to local citizens who had been assisting him. Haresnape stated in his letter to the commission that he considered the action a termination of his services and asked release from responsibility for their actions.

No action has been taken by the commission, but Mayor B. B. Baggett has replied expressing appreciation for the time and complete organization plans which Haresnape perfected and carried through for the trials.

Don is waiting quietly here for better conditions to improve for another run on the beach, in which he hopes to break the existing record of 231 miles an hour made last year by Henry Segrave.

Don announced late tonight that he may take his Sunbeam Silver Bullet onto the beach Wednesday for a trial. He said he would advise definitely regarding his plans tomorrow.

Horse Show Picks Manager for Ring

Major Edwin Van Deusen, of the 5th field artillery, Fort Snelling, Minn., will act as ring manager of the horse show to be held April 25-26 at Piedmont park by the Atlanta Horse Show Association. Colonel Fitzhugh Lee, executive manager, announced Monday.

Major Van Deusen is a horseman of wide experience and has handled horse shows for many years. He will arrive in Atlanta a few days in advance of the show to help Colonel Lee wind up preparations and will have complete charge of the rings while the show is in progress.

Officials of the horse show are confident that they have secured the best men possible to judge the 28 classes to be run off in the two days. Lieutenant Colonel Adna R. Chaffee, of the United States cavalry, is probably the outstanding judge of hunters and jumpers in the country. He judges these classes at the national show in Madison Square Garden every year and is thoroughly capable of his task. Claude Pemberton, of Elizabethton, Ky., is a widely known judge and expert in saddle horses and several out-of-town tries have been received because he is to officiate here.

Out-of-town entries are being received every day and Colonel Lee said Monday that there would be considerably more than he had expected.

Florida Dedicates New Pool Saturday

GAINESVILLE, Fla., April 7.—(AP)—The new $33,000 swimming pool at the University of Florida will be dedicated with a dual meet between Florida and Georgia Tech aquatic stars next Saturday, officials of the university athletic department announced today. Varsity and freshmen teams will compete in the water carnival.

The Florida golf team will oppose the University of Alabama golf team in the European zone Davis Cup play here Saturday morning and afternoon while a fencing competition between the Gators and the Plant High school team of Tampa will round out a full day for athletes at the university.

Brasleton's fighting basketball squad, which went to the quarter-final round of the national scholastic court tournament in Chicago last week, is shown above on the road to home and family. The boys paused in Atlanta long enough to have their pictures taken. In the front row, left to right, are LeRoy Kinney, Clarence Maddox, Jake Boggs, Ralph Dalton, Austin Wall. Back row, Grady Thrasher, A. P. Rice, Eisel Archie and Harry Brasleton.

EXPERT OKAYS HORNSBY'S HEEL

Says Rajah Will Be Ready for Play This Week.

By Paul Mickelson.

Associated Press Staff Writer.

CHICAGO, April 7.—(AP)—Rogers Hornsby came back to town today and said he was ready to play this week.

Dr. Chislett said the bony growth on the heel had almost disappeared and that the soreness now centers wholly in the right ankle because of Hornsby's habit of walking on his toes.

He said he was glad to get back to work and to take a few days' rest at St. Louis, his home. While there, Hornsby will confer with Dr. Robert Hyland, who cut the bony growth from his heel last November.

There is nothing serious and Hornsby could play baseball now if he wanted to do so, Dr. Chislett said. "I have advised him to walk normally and have him wear a brace to support the heel," he said.

Hornsby said he was glad to get back to work and to take a few days' rest at St. Louis, his home. While there, Hornsby will confer with Dr. Robert Hyland, who cut the bony growth from his heel last November.

'Amos 'n' Andy' of Tech Menace to Trackmen

Ed Hamm and Doug Graydon Seeking Records in Relays Last of Week.

By Herb Clark.

A two-man menace from Georgia Tech, recruited from the fertile soil of Arkansas, which has furnished so many standard-bearers for the White and Gold, is aiming at records. Their first major attempts will come Saturday afternoon in the Tech relays.

No. 1—The Amos of the pair is Ed Hamm, of Lonoke. Hamm has set a mark of 25 feet 1 1/8 inches in the broad jump. That mark bettered the record set by just one-quarter of one inch, and "Amos" is now officially the world's champion broad jumper.

No. 2—Andy, of course, is Doug Graydon, of Little Rock. A sophomore, Graydon has already come within 7 5/8 inches of the American intercollegiate javelin record. He is still a youngster, and has by no means reached the peak of his form.

Both Hamm and Graydon are set to "shoot the works" in the Southern relays here Friday and Saturday. Hamm, kept from competition last season by an operation, is now in uniform and play "if at all possible" against the Memphis Chickadees tomorrow. Manager Bob Shawkey, of the New York Yankees, said he was looking for Hamm to "shoot the works" in the Olympic era. He hopes to send the college record over the 25-foot distance before he graduates in June.

Graydon, handicapped by minor injuries received on the gridiron, has not done his best work this season in previous meets, but is showing better form and is attaining better distances daily and should do his bit toward topping the college record here Saturday.

And, as a mere sideline to their special events, both the Jacket flashes will toe the mark in the 100-yard dash. They will run on the half-mile Tech relay team—termed the first Jacket co-op club—with a chance to win a major event. Both are likely to run on the Jacket sprint team in the 100-yard dash.

Graydon was still "out" with spring football bruises and was in no shape to compete. He was laid up at the Flats but continued his training. He has over-reached the 200-foot mark on occasion thus far, although his best competitive mark is still under 195 feet. His shape is gradually improving, however, and he is expected to do his bit Saturday.

With these Jacket flashes but two among a field of the best of Dixie athletes, the eighth annual southern relay carnival should be a major fan attraction.

FOX, BRUNOWICZ CLASH TONIGHT

Mat Card Opens at Auditorium at 8:15 O'Clock With Three Bouts.

With all four of the heavyweight wrestlers in the city and trained to the minute for their matches tonight, the public was evidenced considerable interest on the matches, especially the feature bringing together Charley Fox and Frank Brunowicz.

Fox, the hard-boiled egg from Cleveland, and Brunowicz, the Polish champion, are both exponents of the art of legalized murder in their work. The spectators expect legs and arms to fly from the ring at any moment. Brunowicz excited the spectators in his last appearance here when he showed willingness to swap rough stuff. He means a real rough one in Fox tonight.

FOX NO FAVORITE. Fox has shown here four times and there isn't a man in the audience who doesn't hope for the worst for Charley Fox. Brunowicz, who is equally as rough, may win many friends if he can annihilate Fox.

This match, which follows the Alex Linow-Roughhouse Nelson semi-wind-up, is not a grudge match. There has been no effort made to advertise it as such. But Brunowicz has declared that he will make Fox jump out of the ring if he tries any rough stuff. "I can give him all I am looking for," said Brunowicz. "I can beat Charley Fox wrestling or roughing, and he can do either one he wants to. He'll find he hasn't a monopoly on either one."

Brunowicz, Polish champion, weighs about 15 more pounds than Fox and this is expected to count in his favor. The match, however, is an even one with no favorites.

In the semi-windup Alex Linow, a big 220-pounder, will meet Roughhouse Nelson, who has appeared in Atlanta several times.

LINOW NEWCOMER. Linow is a newcomer and is looked on as one of the most formidable young men in the game. He weighs enough to give any man trouble. This is another match which appears extremely interesting.

Tickets will remain on sale this morning at the Piedmont Hatters and at the Candler building soda fountain. Ladies are admitted to any seat in the house for 75 cents.

The program, which will open with a 15-minute preliminary, begins at 8:15 o'clock.

Watts' Opponent Has Good Record

Eddie Hanlon, who has been giving Atlanta fans good fights for several years, believes that he has secured one of the very best available opponents for his fight Jimmy Watts at the Atlanta theater on the night of April 15.

Joe Lucas is the young featherweight who will swap punches with Watts. Monday night Hanlon was displaying Lucas' record and among his victims are Pinky May, put to sleep in the space of six rounds; Tony Lato, who weathered the storm of Lucas' fists for seven rounds; Benny Gursch, who went down in two; Carl Ransom went three. Lucas defeated Carl Forbes in a 10-round affair and has boxed Bull Taylor. Lucas is scheduled to meet Taylor again in Detroit the latter part of April.

Lucas has fought a great deal in Birmingham, is very popular with the fans over there and Hanlon believes that many Birmingham people will come over to see him fight. He will be meeting a dangerous opponent in Watts, considered one of the best men of his weight in the country.

Jimmy is an Atlanta boy and has fought all over the country but this is the No. 1 bout for him in his home town and he is determined to make the best possible showing before his home people.

Hanlon is busy arranging the rest of his card and says that it will be as good as the main bout. It will be announced within a very few days.

British Victors.

WEMBLEY STADIUM, Eng., April 7.—(UN)—In the presence of 63,000 spectators, England won the 1930 international soccer championship, defeating Scotland, 5 to 2.

More than half the vast throng had come from Scotland to see the match, thousands wearing their traditional tartans and tam-o'-shanters.

RAUCH SHELLED BY DODGER BATS IN BIG INNING

Atlantans Bang Clise Dudley for 3 Runs But Fall Short.

There were quite a few others around who were once affiliated with the two clubs, notably Bob Parham, performing in the opening game with Macon; Al Lopez, who caught the Dodger rookies in that game and no end of other members of the grand old lodge sitting here and there. What a handshaking there was.

Jackets and Petrels Open 3-Game Series at Rose Bowl Today

LOCAL RIVALS OPEN '30 PLAY AT 4 O'CLOCK

Teams Open Three-Game Series; Oglethorpe Is Powerful.

By Herb Clark.

Georgia Tech's Yellow Jackets and Oglethorpe's Stormy Petrels, traditional rivals of the baseball diamond, will enter the first stage of their annual three-lap debate on Tech's Rose Bowl field this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

And, as usual, the Jackets and the Petrels have strong teams. Also as usual, the Jackets and the Petrels seem to be fairly evenly matched.

The Tigers of Clemson College obligingly came to town to furnish a basis for comparison.

Tech, playing the first pair with the Tigers, scored 14 runs to 10 for the Tigers. Oglethorpe's tally was 12 to 7. Tech got 16 hits off the slants of four Tiger pitchers. Oglethorpe treated the same number of pitchers in the same fashion. The Tigers got to the Jacket hurlers for 19 hits, to the Petrel pitchers for 17.

Individual records on Tiger moundmen show that in six innings Hoffman gave the Petrels five hits; that in three and one-third innings he gave the Jackets five hits. That Nimmer fared equally well against both teams, giving each a pair of hits in a pair of innings.

The Petrels got to Nimmers three times in four innings, while the Jackets hit thrice in four frames. Parkins faced the Petrels but not the Jackets, while Chambliss reversed the procedure. Each allowed six hits, Parkins working four innings and Chambliss five. Tech and Oglethorpe swept their respective series.

That much for the abstract. This afternoon the concrete will be furnished by the fans. This afternoon the cry of the vagrant base knock will echo as an oracle to tell which of the fighting aggressions is the more potent.

The Petrels had a light schedule for last week-end, but made the most of their opportunity to beat Fort Benning's crew. The Jackets, on the other hand, were all set to work hard until the weather stepped in to halt proceedings. Florida's Gators gave the Engineers a two-game workout in which the count stood at one game each on the winning ledger.

Frank Anderson has a powerful club out Peachtree way. His Petrels have shaped up into a first-class hitting club bolstered by fine pitching talent. Holcombe, Appling, Wall, Bennett, Herrin and others of the Petrel crew are well able to hit away at the ball and see it ride to the far reaches of the diamond as well as handle opposing threats while in the field.

Kid Clay is equally well equipped. Pullen, Harper, McKee, Preston, Terrell, and a few take their cuts with determination and get their hits with regularity. And they are by no means laggards afield. A six-man mound staff does no hurt to the Jacket cause.

Yes, And yes. The Jackets and the Petrels are two of the best. And their series at the Rose Bowl should be three of the best. The fetish of rivalry should be pleasing in plenty with the offerings on the altar.

T. H. S. Net Team Beats Bluebirds

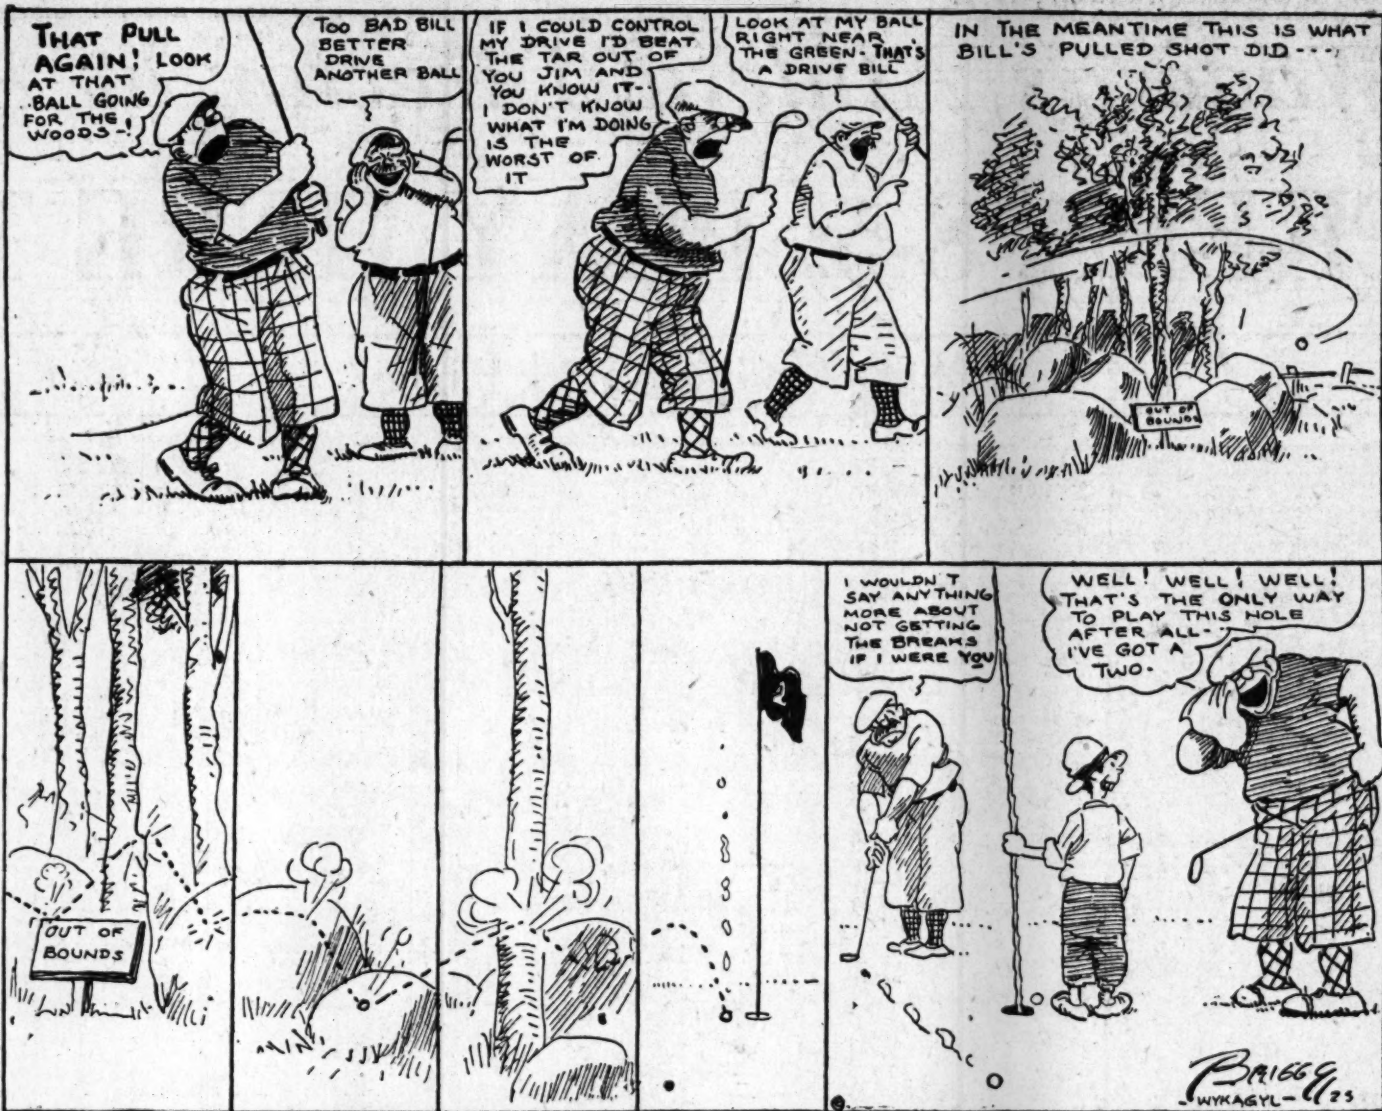

Tech High's tennis team added another victory to its 1930 record Monday afternoon at Piedmont Park when University School was defeated, 4 to 2. The two teams split even in the four singles matches, while Tech High won both of the doubles matches.

In the singles Boynton, of U. S. B., defeated Bracewell, 6-0, 6-1, 12-10, in the feature match of the afternoon. Keiser, of Tech High, defeated Asher, 6-0, 7-5, 6-0, of U. S. B., beat Hairey, of Tech High, 7-5, 6-1, and Street, of Tech High, won from Morris, of U. S. B., 7-5, 6-0.

In the doubles Street and Bracewell, of Tech High, beat Boynton and Martin, 4-6, 6-1, 6-3, and Fairley and Keiser defeated Morris and Asher, of U. S. B., 6-0, 6-2.

ATHENS HIGH TIES GEORGIA

Youngsters Surprise Bulldogs in Practice Game, 4 to 4.

By Buck Anderson.

ATHENS, Ga., April 7.—A quick fielding Athens High team played over its head this afternoon to tie Georgia Bulldogs in a six-inning practice game, 4-4. Bill White's team was starting its preparation for the games with the Auburn Tigers, which will be played in Auburn, Ala., Friday and Saturday of this week.

Three of Georgia's star hurlers were on the mound this afternoon. Jimmie Murdock, trusty left-hander; Lefty Simpson, who won his first varsity victory against Mercer, and Spurgeon Chandler, who gave up three hits in nine innings against the North Carolina Tarheels last Friday, were allowed to throw 'em over to the high school lads on Sanford field. The boys took it easy, a high school game doesn't go on the record books, and the Athens lads were able to do something besides whiff the breeze when they came to bat.

But Athens has a smart ball team, and the 15-year-old lad who was on the mound the entire route for the boys from the high school will have something to tell his grandchildren. Young Harold Epps, a sophomore at Athens High, and a portside at that, made the Georgia regulars whiff the breeze on many occasions when they strolled to the plate expecting to hit homers. Epps reminds one of Lefty Carrithers, also a portside from Athens High, whose strikeout record of 17 men in one college ball game last year still stands. Carrithers will be back at Georgia next year, after staying out a year to see the world. Bennie Rothstein, Georgia's clean-up man, with three hits, one a double, in four trips to the plate, was back in his usual form this afternoon. Cliff McGaughey, Jimmie Murdock and Carter Tate got triples off the Athens hurler. Brick Davenport, Sheriff Lee Byrd, Ben Hilburn and Roy Day got singles in their trips to the plate.

Expensive Underpinning.

With the pennant season only a week away, two of our most expensive athletes are running on flat tires. They happen to be none other than Ruth and Hornsby, and if anything of a serious nature happens to them a lot will happen to their ball clubs.

Ruth is facing his seventeenth season in his 36th year. Hornsby at the age of 34, is in his sixteenth campaign. These vital statistics show that the two boys are beginning to get along, not near the end of the tow path but up in the middle, where muscles become a trifle more fragile and need more rest.

Ruth's schedule from early March to October called for more than 180 ball games. It was beyond reason to figure he could play in anything approaching this number without losing one or both legs. The classic qualities, calling for quick starting and quick stopping, begin to fade out as one passes along into the thirties. Legs may be strong after that age but not for sprinting qualities. The Babe can't restrain his enthusiasm. Baseball, at $80,000 a year, may be his profession but at heart he is still an amateur ready to kick in with the old college try. He could not even curb his keen desire for one more bag in an exhibition game where the natural angle of a tired business man would have been to rest at second and take no chances.

When the Babe takes part in a ball game it usually means that he takes part with 100 per cent of all he has, legs or no legs. At the age of 36, not even a superman can expect a pair of rather slender legs to carry 220 pounds at top speed day after day from early spring to autumn.

He will have to be more careful this season than ever before and the Babe doesn't know how to be careful. There is no such germ in his system.

Two Veterans.

John J. McGraw celebrated his 57th birthday yesterday but compared to Connie Mack he is still a kid. Connie was a big league ball player when McGraw was 12 years old. Mack was a big leaguer somewhere around 45 years ago, and that wasn't yesterday.

But McGraw remains as the veteran field marshal of the National league. He has won 10 pennants and he still has a shot at many more. Part of the old flame and fire may have died out, but there is enough left to steam up another winning team, once he can assemble the right cast. And it took Mack 15 years to collect the combination he needed to resume his winning ways. McGraw has been a big factor in creating baseball interest. He has added color and dash to the game and these are matters that play no small part in luring the populace through the turnstiles.

Two Good Captains.

Judging by the events of the last few days the two United States invading golf teams will have two pretty fair captains. They are Bobby Jones and Glenna Collett. They should do in a pinch, anyway.

Miss Collett won another north and south title to prove that she still belongs at the head of the women's party. She is hitting the ball well enough to have a great chance for the British title. Miss Collett and Jones have each won the amateur championship over here four times. The race between them to capture the British for the first time will be in the nature of a scramble, but the lady gets the first shot on the other side. Which is fair enough.

The Sharkey-Schmeling fight may not roll up a million dollar gate but the lawsuits will pass that mark with something to spare.

Another East-West Argument.

"I can pick four all-around college athletes from the eastern section of the United States who will have it all over any four from the mid-west where the conference rule," writes H. K. L. "My four are Jim Thorpe, of Carlisle; Elmer Oliphant, of the Army; Harry Fisher, of Williams, and George Owen, of Harvard. Let the west match this quartet." The midwest can offer its own rebuttal. But it strikes me that a young man named Elmer Oliphant was a star athlete at Purdue for three or four years before he ever came to the Army.

Today's Golf Roundup.

"The main thing in golf instruction," says Stewart Maiden, Bobby Jones' first and only golf instructor, now at Farmingdale, Long Island, "is to make as few suggestions as you can. When you attempt to give any golfer three or four things to work on he is lost."

The best way is to take his greatest fault and try to correct that. You may have to give him a starting point and let him work from that.

"In the case of Bobby, I told him as little as possible. I knew it was a mistake to confuse him with too many things. He, of course, was an exception. In the case of others I use the same method, giving them as little to work on as I can."

"The golf swing is simple when handled correctly. When handled incorrectly it is the most complicated stroke in sport. It is necessary to take the shortest cut to rhythm and smoothness. They are the basis of the golf swing. But to get this idea over it is necessary to approach different golfers in different ways."

"I think the main trouble with most golfers is hitting too quickly. Few are willing to let the swing take care of itself. This causes bad foot action, bad body action and poor hand action. Good timing is largely a matter of taking more time after the back swing gets under way."

Alpha, Pep Classes To Tangle Saturday

The Atlantic Steel Plant's diamond should be the scene of one of the best games among the amateur teams of the city Saturday afternoon as the Alpha Class of Wesley Memorial meets the Pep Class of the Baptist Tabernacle. Both clubs are members of the Y-Club A. A. but are not in the same league. Both teams have many following and the early comers will get the best seats. No admission will be charged.

'Gator Star Made Coach at R. E. Lee

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 7.—(AP)—Rainey Cawthon, of Tallahassee, captain and fullback of the University of Florida football team last fall, will coach the football team of the Robert E. Lee High school here next year, athletic officials at the school announced today.

Cawthon will succeed Jack Overton, who is out of the city with the Lee basketball team.

YOUNG PLAYERS BOOST CHANCES OF AUSTRALIA

Anzacs Loom as Dark-horse in Coming Davis Cup Battle.

By Vincent Richards.

(Copyright, 1930, for The Constitution and North American Newspaper Alliance.) After a year's interlude Australia is returning to the Davis cup arena with a young team which may be the dark-horse of the international ties in Europe.

Gerald Patterson has seen his best days. James Anderson is no longer in the amateur ranks, and Jack Hawkes seems to have passed out of the picture, although Hawkes, I understand, is still playing first-class tennis.

BANK ON YOUTHS.

The Anzacs have decided to cut entirely with the past and put their reliance in the upcoming young players, taking a tip from the French association. Before France rose to the top Australia was the strongest opponent of the United States and reached the challenge round in 1922, 1923 and 1924.

In fact, from 1914 to 1925, Australia was in the challenge round every year the matches were held except in 1921, when Japan was the opponent of the United States. Then in 1925 France eliminated the Anzacs, due to the great play of Jean Borotra, and since then the French and the United States have met in the challenge round.

New Jersey Bars Girl Pugilists

TRENTON, N. J., April 7.—(UN)—"Battling" Mary Baxter, of Brooklyn, 138 pounds, and Sally (One Round) Rencoff, of Newark, 135 pounds, will have to trade left jabs in some other state. Benjamin Jacobs, secretary of the state athletic commission, today banned a proposed meeting of the women gladiators in New Jersey. They were to have been the high light of matches to be staged by the Moose lodge of South River, N. J., Tuesday night. Jacobs ignored pleas that "both girls are members of this club."

this year will be composed of Jack Crawford, 22-year-old captain; Harry Hopman, Edgar F. Moon and Jack Willard. They are well known to American tennis fans, for they have played in the United States, competing in the big invitation tournaments and national championships.

Crawford, a pretty stylist, is the best player and is regarded by some experts as the coming brightest star in the world though I am inclined to believe that he is not quite aggressive enough or fast enough on his feet to get to the top of the tennis heap. But there is no denying he has beautiful form in the execution of his strokes, and when he is "right" he is an exceedingly tough man to beat.

Hopman is as fast as Crawford is leisurely. He has a fast service and is very active all over the court and plays more in the style of the young Americans. He and Crawford make a crack doubles combination and both played on the 1928 Australian team. Moon, a powerful fellow known as "The Farm Hand," has the endurance of an ox, and he has made great progress during the last three years, while Willard also rates among the best of the younger generation of players in Australia.

FOUR CONTESTS SLATED TODAY IN PREP LOOP

Tech High, Leading With Three Victories, Plays Decatur Nine.

By Roy White.

Eight prep teams will swing into action this afternoon in the fifth round of the 1930 schedule, with Coach Tolbert's Tech High team leading the field with three victories. Today's schedule brings together University and G. M. A. at College Park, Commercial and Fulton at Briarcliff Park, Decatur and Tech High at Piedmont Park, and Boys' High and Marist on the Marist campus.

Upsets have featured previous games and the leaders are not certain of a victory in any game. Tech High had to fight its way back into the ball game to defeat Russell High last Friday after the East Point lads had held the Smithies scoreless for five innings.

Commercial High pulled the upset of the league last Tuesday with a well-earned victory over Marist, then leader of the field. University came back the same afternoon to beat Decatur High on the DeKalb county diamond.

To pick a feature game for this afternoon would be a hard job, but Boys' High and Marist, tied for third place with two victories and one defeat each, should play a close and interesting game.

A's and Yanks Stand Out in American, Poll of Managers Shows

NEW YORK CLUB HAS STRENGTH, SHAWKEY SAYS

Indians, Tigers, Browns Rated Next Best; Mack Likes His Boys.

By George Kirksey.

NEW YORK, April 7.—(UN)—The Philadelphia Athletics and New York Yankees are again the class of the American league, a poll of the eight managers by the United News revealed today.

The battle for the other two first division berths is likely to be between Cleveland, Detroit and St. Louis, the poll indicated.

"The Yankees will be very tough foes," said Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, "and the other clubs have strengthened. If we get the breaks and the pitching, however, we will be right around the top."

Bob Shawkey, Yankees' new leader, thinks his team is on par with the Athletics, with the other six teams in a class behind them.

YANKS STRONGER.

"The Yankees are stronger this season and the Athletics are not," said Shawkey. "We have the most powerful team in the league. A great deal depends on our pitching. Last season the Yankees lost because Penneck, Hoyt and Johnson did not come up to expectations. These pitchers are staying combed and we have picked up two young hurlers, Gomez and Pelli, who seem to be ready. I think Detroit will finish third and Cleveland fourth."

Manager Walter Johnson has hopes of a first division berth for Washington. He added, however, "we are not going to do any remarkable things at bat, but I think we have the best defensive team in the league."

ensive team in the league." Bucky Harris' only prediction was that Detroit would finish higher than last season, when the Tigers landed sixth. The Yankees, Athletics and Indians are rated the best of the other teams by Harris.

Bill Killefer, had no comment to make on the other clubs, but said that his team, the St. Louis Browns, would EVANSVILLE, Ind., April 7.—(AP)—Chicago's White Sox nosed out the New York Giants, 11 to 10, in 10 innings.

Good Golf.

Any photograph of a good golfer finishing a real swing—that is, a swing with which he has actually stroked the ball for a shot—that counts—invariably shows the left leg straightened, the left hip drawn, to the left, the head in line with the point where the ball rested, the arms and right shoulder through, and the body bent. Now this is a totally different picture from the posed picture which supposedly shows the finish of a swing. Here the player has nothing at stake in play, and has nothing on his mind other than trading a pose for his picture in the magazine, which appears to him to be fair enough. Moreover, he naturally wishes to give forth a picture that shows some "action," because experience has taught him that editors toss non-action pictures into waste baskets and toss "action" pictures into print. Sometimes the pros are not credited with knowing much, but they know that much if they have been going to tournaments very long. So the photographer invariably gets a posed picture which will give the editor plenty of opportunity to show, again, just how it is the hips smash forward with the real golf swing. The hips do, of course, move forward with the beginning of the swing—they have to—but there is trouble ahead if you double-do this by trying to hip-force clubhead action.

Canzoneri Favored.

NEW YORK, April 7.—(UN)—Tony Canzoneri, Brooklyn lightweight, is an 8-to-5 favorite over Frankie Lee, of Troy, N. Y., for their 10-round bout at the Broadway arena, Brooklyn, tomorrow night.

BASEBALL TIPS

Al Demaree, Famous Baseball Star, Gives Line on Fielding

By Al Demaree, (Former Pitcher of New York Giants)

Next to being a sure catch of a fly ball and being able to cover ground, it is most essential for an outfielder to have a good throwing arm.

If possible try to catch the ball at the shoulder so there is no lost motion in drawing the arm back in the act of throwing.

Throw the ball overhand from the outfield. A ball thrown side arm has a tendency to curve and bounce off line when it hits the ground.

Also a ball thrown overhand gains an extra impetus when it hits and does not die as side-arm balls often do.

Always throw on a line and bounce the ball to the catcher or infielder to whom you are throwing, unless the throw is a very short one.

A "rainbow" throw that reaches the catcher on the "fly," never catches a base runner.

Do not make a useless throw to the plate when your team is several runs ahead. Let the run score and throw to second base and keep the batter on first where he cannot score on a single.

Mathewson's fadeaway and other great pitchers' styles are analyzed in Al Demaree's illustrated leaflet, "The Art of Pitching." Send for it care of The Constitution and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Fencer Dies.

LONDON, April 7.—(UN)—Felix Bertrand, famous fencing instructor who numbered among his pupils many noted actors, including Sir Henry Irving and Sir Herbert Beerbaum Tree, died suddenly today of pneumonia. He was 58. His father founded the Bertrand fencing academy of London in 1861.

Packed House.

LOS ANGELES, April 7.—(UN)—A packed house is practically assured for the scheduled 10-round bout here Tuesday night between Primo Carnera, giant Italian, and Neal Clisby, Los Angeles negro heavyweight, the management of the Olympic auditorium said tonight.

Gooch Doubles in Ninth To Give Chattanooga 8-to-7 Victory.

NEW ORLEANS, La., April 7.—(AP)—Willis Hudlin, Cleveland Indian pitcher, fanned 12 batters and Cleveland defeated the New Orleans Pelicans, 10 to 6, here today.

Johnny Hodapp led the hitting with two doubles and a single in five trips to the plate. The Indians hammered two Pelican rookie pitchers, Conklin and Perrin, for 16 safe blows.

The final exhibition game between the Indians and the Pelicans will be played tomorrow.

Gooch's Double Wins.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 7.—(AP)—Charlie Gooch poked a terrific blow to left to score Howard from second in the last half of the ninth, giving the Lookouts a victory over Buffalo today, 8 to 7. Bisous had tied the score in their half of the frame when Pitcher Honnelly homered to center field.

Howard hit. Dashiell sent him down, then Gooch got his fifth safety of the day to send the winning run across. Gooch, up five times, got a triple, two doubles and two singles.

Barons Beat Brewers.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 7.—(AP)—Hitting Milwaukee hurlers hard the Birmingham Barons added another American association team to their list of victims today in beating the Brewers 11 to 6. Pate and Ludolph were on the hill for the Barons, giving up 11 hits as compared to 16 garnered by the Barons off Milwaukee pitchers. Sturdy, for the Barons, and Young, for Milwaukee, hit homers. In addition to hurling nicely Ludolph connected for a triple with two mates aboard, providing the margin of victory in the seventh. The teams meet again tomorrow and Wednesday.

SENATORS DENOUNCE RASKOB, MELLON

Norris, of the committee, and by Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, would do no good, and his report of enforcement under President Hoover was so optimistic that Norris said later he was inclined to withdraw his measure. Wheeler, however, will be given an opportunity to be heard on his measure later.

Brookhart, on the senate floor, however, served notice he will move to discharge the judiciary committee from consideration of the Norris investigation resolution if it is not reported out. He charged that Mellon has been responsible for failure to stop diversion of industrial alcohol, neglect in maintaining adequate control, and permitting forfeiture of liquor bonds.

All Officials. Those who announced purpose was to reply to the recent anti-prohibition speech of Senator Tydings, democrat, Maryland, extended his attack to include all officials of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, which has several hundred directors, including Senators Atterbury and Raskob, Pierre DuPont, Delaware industrial leader.

"Last February 16 Prohibition Commissioner Dorn announced there was no more diversion of alcohol," Brookhart said. "Five days later 186 persons were indicted in Chicago for diversions, including such firms as the Fleischmann Vinegar Company."

"The Canadian government by passing a bill to prevent smuggling has done more than Mellon to enforce our laws."

Brookhart lent a hand to Simmons' attack on Raskob by citing as an example of "hypocrisy and fanaticism" Raskob's anti-prohibition contributions, which, he predicted, would be used against Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, although Raskob's committee has approved Walsh.

Attacks Figures. The Iowa also denounced Tydings' "AN OBLIGING BEAUTY DOCTOR"

A Beauty Specialist Gives Home-Made Recipe to Darken Gray Hair.

Mrs. M. D. Gillespie, a well-known beauty specialist of Kansas City, recently gave out the following statement regarding gray hair:

"Anyone can prepare a mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and 1-4 ounce of glycerine."

"These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and will not rub off."—(adv.)

Thin Folks Gain Weight and Health

Sickly, tired out folks must be benefited speedily, says your druggist, or money back.

Since Scientists have discovered the fact that we must have a plentiful supply of Vitamins in our bodies in order to keep healthy and vigorous, millions of people have just learned that life is worth living.

The thin, weak, tired out, despondent, nervous person that is at all up-to-date takes Nature's own Vitamins instead of drugs—they have learned that lack of Vitamins in the body causes most of the ill health in the world.

Probably, ninety per cent of the men and women in America would feel better—would be more vigorous and keener minded if they had more Vitamins in their body.

The quick and sure way to get these Vitamins into your body is to take McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets which are brimful of weight-building and energy-creating Vitamins—drugs where.

Why not try them—Nature's own Vitamins can do you nothing but good. You can get them at your druggist, 60 tablets, 30 cents. Take them as directed for 21 days and then if not joyfully satisfied, get your money back. Just ask for McCoy's at any drug store in America.—(adv.)

statistics showing increased alcoholism and cited in reply some statistics of his own listing increased savings under prohibition conditions.

Simmons told the senate he was "astonished and appalled" by the Raskob anti-prohibition contributions.

"I rise for the purpose principally of repudiating on behalf of the dry democracy of North Carolina the action of Mr. Raskob in helping to finance an association that will aid the campaigning of wet republicans," Simmons said.

"Undoubtedly Mr. Raskob has the right personality to contribute to the campaign of any person, democrat or republican, as he desires, but I think all will recognize the impossibility in the present conditions of differentiating between Mr. Raskob the individual, and Mr. Raskob who holds the position of national chairman of the democratic party."

More Arrests. Mitchell gave the committee statistics showing a considerable increase in prohibition enforcement effectiveness in the last few months as compared with a year previous to the close of the Coolidge administration. The statistics were not made public at once, but they were similar to those made public by Mitchell will aid the campaigning of wet republicans," Simmons said.

Chairman Norris questioned Mitchell about the will that Simmons had made public that concerned the period before he took office.

Mitchell said he had publicly stated that a decrease of about 2,500 prohibition prosecutions in New York was occasioned by a supreme court ruling in the Gambino case, excluding federal prosecution in many cases where evidence was taken and arrests made by state officers.

Chairman Overman of the state judiciary committee in charge of the Williamson bill to transfer enforcement from the treasury to the justice department, said he had heard that hearings would start Thursday.

He said the measure, a leading feature of the Hoover-Wickersham enforcement program, several weeks ago.

WARD ABOLITION PAPER ADOPTED

cratic executive committee and the secretary of that body."

Provisions of Paper. Major provisions of the paper affecting registration included the abolition of voting by certificates in any election or primary with the single exception of bond elections; preparation of a registration list available to all persons within 15 days from the time of the election or primary; closing of registration lists at least 30 days before any election or primary; furnishing of the lists to individuals at $3 per ward, or less, if possible; time contributed to the association by lists and from sale of the complete registration to the democratic executive committee, shall be turned into the treasury for the purpose of employing assistants in the registrar's office and to cover the costs of preparation of the lists; registration of each voter by precinct instead of by wards to eliminate possibility of duplicate voting; every one registered shall be sworn at the time the registration is made.

In offering his paper, Mr. Couch declared that every man who offers for a city-wide office is "panhandled to death and that control of the purse strings will do more to curb ward politics and beat down political machines than any other one factor."

Just as soon as one man succeeds for an office, he is besieged by panhandlers," Mr. Couch declared. "Speaking of graft, why even pastors of churches down to the laymen come wanting contributions. When you give to them you know they are going to your opponent and ask the same thing of him, but if you fail to make a contribution, they will fight you."

Protection Pointed Out. "I know there is enough public sentiment to force all members of council to run from the entire borough at large whether you want to or not, but this measure will prevent the expenditure of large sums of money. It will be a protection to every one who offers for a race."

The Couch measure asks the democratic committee to pass rules in accordance with the provisions of the ordinance and a supplementary ordinance passed by council prevents expenditure of more than the $300 in a general election.

Alderman Dobbs arose to ask whether the measure affects the "310 and $25 a day poll workers."

"Yes, every penny a person expends exclusive of the entrance fee in the primary," Mr. Couch replied. "Under the provisions, each candidate must swear that neither he nor his friends spent more than the $300 and must list the expenditure of that money."

Councilman York's resignation was accepted by a vote of 31 for and against, Alderman G. Everett Millican, of the tenth ward, contending that council should place him on trial before a council committee rather than permit him to withdraw quietly.

"Another gentleman was permitted to quit this council when he was under fire," Mr. Millican said. "He swore one way here, and I am told he has sworn differently since this probe of municipal affairs opened."

Mr. Millican referred to Councilman Charles M. Ford, of the tenth ward, and to the investigation of the purchase of the 410-acre Perkins tract for establishment of a tenth ward park.

The democrats of his state, he said, "in an overwhelming majority, disapprove, condemn and repudiate the action of Mr. Raskob in contributing to the funds to be used to elect wet republicans over dry democrats while he still holds the titular position of national chairman of our party."

Of course, the senator was neither "surprised" nor "appalled" to learn of this situation. It has been known for a very long time that Mr. Raskob contributed to the wet association. His contributions have been a matter of record at the capital.

In view of the temper of the democrats over Simmons' second bill without delay, it might be said rather definitely that when Josephus Daniels arrives tomorrow to carry Simmons' cause before the lobby committee, that he will not be received by a delegation of democrats and taken to view the cherry blossoms. Most anything but that may happen though.

$1,323,775 GIVEN FOR STATE ROADS

Federal Aid Funds Will Make $5,000,000 Available by July 1.

Announcement in Washington Monday that an additional $1,323,775 had been apportioned Georgia for federal aid in road building means that the state highway department will have more than $5,000,000 available by July 1 for road-building purposes, officials of the highway department stated.

The apportionment represents Georgia's share of the $50,000,000 recently authorized by congress for highway construction beginning July 1.

All such federal aid money must be matched by state funds, it was said. The money will be collected only as highway construction is completed.

J. W. Barnett, chairman of the highway board, announced several days ago that approximately $3,000,000 of contracts for new roads would be let April 22.

including Councilman Wiley L. Moore, of the seventh ward, held that council should not "kick a man who is down but that the resignation should be accepted."

Councilman James L. Wells, of the eighth, declared "it would look like a blow below the belt. The less said about that matter the better for Atlanta, council and this section of Georgia. We have had enough unfavorable advertising."

By a vote of 23 to 9, council adhered to the custom of deferring election of the successor to a resigned council member until the next session of that body, after Councilman Jack Hardy, of the sixth, and Alderman Robert E. Gann, of the sixth, failed to agree on a candidate.

"I want to hold a meeting of leading citizens of the sixth ward to see who they want," Mr. Hardy said, and therefore I want to defer action. I also want an opportunity to get together, if possible, with Alderman Gann."

"You could never satisfy the people of the ward and I am ready to nominate now," Mr. Gann countered.

GARRARD-BOSTON WEDDING PLANS ANNOUNCED TODAY

St. Mark's Church To Be Scene of Ceremony April 26

Announcement is made today of the wedding plans of Miss Elizabeth Garrard and Joseph Emerson Boston, Jr., whose engagement was recently announced. The wedding will take place at the oldest families of the south, the Garrard family having resided in Dublin, Ga., for many years, and the Boston family being among Atlanta's early pioneers.

The wedding of this popular young couple will take place at 11 o'clock Saturday morning, April 26, at St. Mark's Methodist Episcopal church, corner Peachtree and Fifth streets, in the presence of a large gathering of fashionable Atlanta society. The ceremony will be performed by Dr. W. L. Duren, pastor of the church, assisted by Dr. Richard Orme Elin, pastor of the North Avenue Presbyterian church.

The bride will be given in marriage by her father, Beverly Amos Garrard, and her maid of honor will be Miss Marie Green. The bridesmaids will be Miss Marion Brown, cousin of the bride, and Miss Marjorie Cargill, of Columbus. Shelman Boston, brother of the groom-elect, will be the best man, and the groomsmen will be Gerald Garrard, brother of the bride-elect, and Lawrence Tetri, of Columbus. The ushers will include Marcus Brown, cousin of the groom-elect; Robert Brown, James Perkinson and Nathan Holleman, of Dublin, Ga.

Immediately after the wedding the bride and groom will leave for a journey which will include Washington, D. C., Philadelphia, Atlantic City, New York, Savannah and other points of interest, after which they will return and make their home in Atlanta.

Church Guild Sponsors Bridge.

A benefit bridge will be given at the Georgia Power Company building on Marietta street, Wednesday afternoon, April 9, at 2 o'clock, sponsored by the guild of Central Congregational church. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Ellis D. Robb, telephone Hemlock 9896 at $2 per table.

Chi Omegas Honor Kappa Delta Society.

The Chi Omega sorority of Oglethorpe University entertains at tea at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon, honoring the Kappa Delta sorority, which was formerly the Zeta Tau sorority. This affair will be given at the home of Miss Edwina Connolly on Inman street, guests to include members of both sororities. Receiving with Miss Connolly will be Misses Eugenia Patterson, Murdoch Walker, Rose Wainwright, Jessie Guerry, Claire McDougall, Elizabeth Fitts and Natalie De Golan.

Civic Theater Honors Daniel Frohman.

Members of the Civic theater entertained at tea Sunday in honor of Daniel Frohman, noted theatrical producer of New York, and friend and counselor of beginners in stage craft for a long number of years. The home of the Civic theater, the White Barn, 117 Fourteenth street, N. E., was filled with young actors and friends of the legitimate stage listened to Mr. Frohman tell of the plays he had staged. "The White Barn, home of the Civic theater," Mr. Frohman said, "is the smallest Little theater he was ever in, but bears the earmarks of a real theater." Mrs. J. R. Hornsby, president of the Woman's Club and Mrs. Arthur Tufts, noted member of the Writers' Club, were hostesses for the occasion. Miss Elizabeth McCallie, Miss Harriet Brown and Miss Lillian Pierce poured tea. Ashton Chapman, president of the Civic theater, announced that tryouts for the three one-act plays soon to be given by the theater, including "Moonshine," by Arthur Hopkins, "Bitter Bread," by Herbert Nelles, "Song of the Cricket," by Cecil Wilk—will be held Wednesday, April 9. The two latter are prize-winning plays in a recent contest held by the drama division of the Atlanta Writers' Club. April 14, 15, 16, from 5 to 5:30 o'clock, "Cobra," a mystery melodrama by Royl Holcomb, will be given over WSB by members of the Civic theater.

Miss Claire Pittman Weds Leal Scheff at Quiet Ceremony

Of interest to a wide circle of friends was the marriage of Miss Claire Louise Pittman to Leal Malory Scheff, which took place Sunday morning, April 6, at 9 o'clock at the home of the Rev. S. A. Cowan, pastor of the Inman Park Baptist church, in the presence of a group of relatives and friends.

Mrs. Scheff, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Pittman, is a member of one of Atlanta's pioneer families, her great-grandfather, Dr.

Benjamin F. Bonar, having been one of the city's early mayors. Mr. Scheff, a successful young businessman, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Scheff, of Atlanta. He is a graduate of the Boys' High school and of Emory university, a member of the Sigma Pi fraternity, and was one of the first young men of Atlanta to be awarded the legion of honor of the De Molay.

Upon their return from a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Scheff will make their home in Atlanta.

Miss Vivian Fain and Mr. Mills Wed at Home Ceremony April 19

Plans for the wedding of Miss Vivian Mae Fain, daughter of Mrs. L. E. Fain, to Carl Mills are of interest. The marriage will be solemnized at 7 o'clock Saturday evening, April 19, at the home of the bride-elect's mother, on Miss street, in the presence of a gathering of relatives and friends. The Rev. W. M. Suttles, well-known Baptist minister, will perform the ceremony.

Miss Fain has chosen as her maid of honor, Miss Mary Haynes. J. W. Pittman will be the best man. The bride-to-be will be given in marriage by her brother, Vance Fain. Her nephew, Alfred W. Fain, will be the ring bearer.

Preceding the ceremony Miss May Patrick will render an appropriate program of nuptial music, using the wedding march from "Lohengrin" as the processional. Miss Lucile Barton will sing several selections. The young couple will leave for a motor trip to Florida, after which they will make their home in West End.

Miss Fain is being entertained at a number of pre-nuptial parties. Miss Lavinia Stilton will be hostess at 8 o'clock this evening at her home on Stokes avenue, honoring this attractive bride-elect. Mrs. J. Robert Jones will be hostess at 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening, April 10, at her home on Gilbert street. Mrs. John Hallman will honor Miss Fain at 7:30 o'clock Saturday evening, April 12, at her home on Macon road. Other parties are being planned in her honor prior to her marriage.

No More Cold Creams

No More Skin Foods or Astringents This New Way

The four fundamentals of skin care are condensed into a single, 3-minute application.

A Scientific Discovery that Condenses a Complete Professional Facial Into a Single Application, Taking Less Than 3 Minutes, That Combine the 4 Fundamentals in Skin Care Urged by Experts!

Now comes a remarkable new development in beauty science. A discovery that experts predict may soon change all previous methods in skin care.

A way that condenses the four fundamentals of scientific skin care into a single, three-minute home application. And that gives you the exact same effect of a complete Professional Facial costing $3 or more.

A way that combats blackheads and enlarged pores; often with almost unbelievable results. That banishes premature age lines, and the lines of strain and worry. For each application works directly on each and all of these conditions.

Hence, a way that completely eliminates the need of costly special creams and lotions. Of old-time cleansing creams, of "skin food" and astringents. Yet—that is as easy to use as an ordinary cleansing cream.

Do you wonder, then, that largely on expert advice tens of thousands of women are adopting this unique creation?

What It Is

It is called Lady Esther Four-Purpose Cream. And it marks the application of totally new principles in skin care as defined by the most recent scientific findings of ablest specialists in the field of beauty culture.

Each application has four distinct actions on the skin.

Cleansing action that cleanses the pores. And thus ends the use of an ordinary cleansing cream.

Tissue stimulating action that invigorates the deep tissues of the skin. And thus that ends the use of a special "skin food."

Astringent action that eradicates worry, strain and premature age lines, refines pores. And thus that makes the use of youth creams and astringents a folly.

Softening action that forms a perfect base for powder. And thus banishes the need of a powder base. Thus the four fundamentals of skin care are condensed into a single, 3-minute application.

Age lines soon go under this daily care. Flabby tissues strengthen and become firm. The skin is kept clean—for the astringent action of this cream closes the pores after they've been cleaned. And thus closes them against accumulations that foster imperfections.

How to Obtain

It is on sale under the name of Lady Esther at all Jacobs Drug Stores at 75c and $1.25 a jar. Or, if you wish to avoid delay, you may order by mail, using coupon below. Cream will be mailed postpaid in plain package.

Junior League Jottings

BY MRS. REGINALD SCOTT FLEET, Editor

BY MRS. REGINALD S. FLEET, Editor.

The activities of the Savannah Junior League have a great deal of interest to Junior League members in Atlanta. A number of Atlanta girls are members of the Savannah Junior League and a number of Savannah girls are members of the Atlanta Junior League. Apart from the personal element, the work which the Savannah Junior League accomplishes is of such splendid character as to interest anyone. Upon a recent visit to Savannah I had the privilege of attending one of the monthly meetings of the league. I was so thoroughly impressed with the spirit and the accomplishments of the league that I wish to devote this week's "Jottings" to the Savannah Junior League.

The Junior Service League of Savannah was formed by the "Elizabeth Butler Circle" and the "Margaret Bottom Circle," each of these groups having a long record of splendid service to the city. Miss Catherine Charlton, the newly elected president of the Savannah Junior League, was the first president of the Service League. In 1920 the Junior Service League was admitted to membership in the Association of Junior Leagues of America, Chattanooga sponsoring and Washington seconding them. Such was their record and their personnel that they were admitted to national membership within less than a year after application. Mrs. Frank McIntyre was the first president of the Savannah Junior League and inaugurated many of the activities which have been carried on since their admission to Junior League membership.

One of the things which impresses one most is the very vital part which the league and its members play in the life of the city. The city of Savannah has established a health center and the Junior League conducts in this health center 19 clinics a week. The entire second floor of the building is taken over by the league. These clinics are of nine classifications, pediatric, pre-natal, orthopedic, dental, ear, eye, nose and throat, gynecological, cardio-nephritic and skin. The doctors of the city give their services to the clinics. The Junior League pays for the equipment of the clinics, for a supervisor and for two full-time nurses. This supervisor also supervises the clinics of the city and in return the public health nurses do follow-up work for the clinics of the league. Two members serve at every clinic keeping records. This brings them in close touch with each case. The league has also organized a motor corps, the members of which take the visiting nurses for follow-up work.

Besides the clinical work, the Junior League also maintains a baby ward of 12 beds at the Telfair hospital. Junior League members serve in this ward when the special nurse is off duty. Eighty hours of work a year are required of each member of the league, at least 40 hours of which must be spent in social service either at the clinic, the hospital or with the motor corps. This requirement is a splendid one as it keeps all the members of the league actively in touch with each phase of the work of the league. Ten thousand dollars is the amount required to conduct the clinical work and the hospital work. As the president of the league pointed out to me, the city of Savannah feels that the work of the league fills such a definite need in its civic life that it gives to the support of this charitable work $1,800 a year. Chattanooga county also gives $1,500 to further the work of the Junior League. The rest of the money required is raised by various means. For some time the Junior League has conducted very successfully a lending library in the DeSoto hotel. At Wormsloe, the beautiful estate of the Wimbles, by DeKenne's, through the courtesy of Mrs. DeKenne, who is a Junior League member, they have recently opened a charming log cabin tea room. Though it has been in operation for only three weeks, it is already proving a favorite spot with visitors to the gardens and Savannah people generally. Two Junior League girls are on duty as hostesses every day, luncheon and afternoon tea being served. They plan to keep the tea room open only during the spring season, but a very successful season seems to be in store for them.

One of the most delightful features of the April meeting of the Savannah Junior League was the talk given by the members by Mrs. James Sheldon, Jr., of New York. Mrs. Sheldon is the secretary of the Association of Junior Leagues of America and the chairman of two important committees, the headquarters committee and the foreign relations committee. Mrs. Sheldon has a very gracious manner and spoke most interestingly of her work with the national association. Her outline of the plans of the association for new headquarters was most interesting. The result of a questionnaire sent to all members of the Junior League was that the majority wished improved headquarters in some hotel. The national headquarters are now in the Barbizon hotel. At the present time in New York foundations are being laid for the wonderful new Waldorf Astoria, and while it is not definitely settled, it is probable that the headquarters committee will recommend to the national conference that the association reserve one floor in this hotel. In this is decided one floor will be designed for the uses of the association, this plan to include a restaurant, this can be accomplished without raising the dues of the individual members and will have many advantages over the old location.

Mrs. Sheldon's discussion of the foreign policy of the league was as outlined in the Jottings several weeks ago. She will recommend to the conference a policy of deciding each proposal on its merits, rather than that of committing the national association to a definite hard and fast rule.

One Dead, Three Sick After Eating Biscuits

NEW YORK, April 7.—(P)—Analysis of powder used in baking biscuits was ordered today after one woman who had eaten them died and three others were made sick. Mrs. Ethel Otto, 24 years old, died in a hospital after eating two of the biscuits which had been baked by Mrs. Rose Shank.

Jack Otto and Nathan Shank, husbands of the woman, and Mrs. Otto were treated for poisoning. The two couples share an apartment in Morningside avenue.

Authorities said they believed insect powder had been mistakenly used for baking powder in mixing the biscuits.

Miss Read Weds Dr. T. J. Charlton In New York

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 7.—Wide-spread interest surrounds the marriage of Miss Anne Carrington Read, daughter of Abram Carrington Read, and Dr. Thomas Jackson Charlton, which took place quietly last Saturday evening in New York city. The ceremony was performed at 6:30 o'clock in the chapel of Grace Episcopal church, with the Rev. W. R. Bowie, rector of the church, officiating. Miss Cecilia Garrard, cousin of the bride, who is now making her home in New York, was maid of honor and only attendant. She was gowned in orchid crepe, with a lace jacket in the same shade, and her shoulder bouquet was of orchids. Dr. L. A. Hornrich, of New York, was Dr. Charlton's best man.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and was lovely in her wedding gown of ivory chiffon. The dress was fashioned on long graceful lines, wide tucks around the hips molding it closely to the figure, and the skirt which reached almost to the floor in front, was made with a train. Her veil was of tulle and beautiful point Venise lace and she carried a bouquet of gardenias.

Only a few of the members of the immediate family witnessed the ceremony, including Mrs. John Martin and Miss Annie Martin, of Charlotte Court House, Va., aunts of the bride, and Miss Ellen Howell, of New York, aunt of the groom, and Miss Rosalie Howell, of New York and Atlanta, a cousin of the groom.

After a wedding trip to Nassau Dr. and Mrs. Charlton will return to Savannah, where they will make their home at 222 East Bay street.

Mrs. Charlton is the only daughter of Mr. Read and the late Mrs. Read, who was before her marriage Miss Guile Lawton. On her maternal side she is a granddaughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. William Lawton, of Savannah, and through them is descended from prominent South Carolina families. Mr. Read is a native of Virginia and is a descendant of the Read, the Venable, the Carrington and the Cabell families in that state.

The bride was graduated from the Springside school at Chestnut Hill, Pa., later attending Mrs. Hartman's school in New York. She is a member of the Junior League of Savannah and of the Colonial Dames.

Dr. Charlton is the only son of Mrs. Charlton and the late Dr. Thomas J. Charlton, his mother having been before her marriage Miss Wilhelmina Howell, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Howell, of Marietta, Ga. Both his grandfather and his great-grandfather were physicians in Savannah and his great-great-grandfather was Judge T. U. P. Charlton.

Dr. Charlton attended the Episcopal high school in Alexandria, Va., and afterwards Yale University, where he was graduated in the class of 1917. He was a member of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity. During the World War he served as lieutenant in the forty-ninth field artillery. He studied medicine at the Yale Medical school and after serving two years as an interne in New York hospital, returned to Savannah to practice. He is on the staff of the Central of Georgia hospital and other hospitals as well as being superintendent of the Georgia infirmary.

Smart Parisian Manikins Model New Original and French Styles

BY RUNA ERWIN.

Interest of fashionable Atlanta centered yesterday on the French fashion revue held at the tea room of Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Company, where chic French models displayed the most exquisite original French models of women's apparel and the American copies of these models. The style show was attended by hundreds of Atlantans who viewed the lovely French gowns displayed by real French manikins. As each original model was displayed another mannequin showed a copy of the model made in America, which incidentally may be purchased for about one-third the price of the original. The revue was held in the tea room, where an improvised walkway was erected. The manikins entered from the far end of the tea room and paraded on the walkway, which was covered with Oriental rugs and decorated on the sides with palms and ferns. A modernistic black background, trimmed with silver, formed the setting, and two silver deer were placed at opposite sides of the stage, making a most attractive scene.

Madame d'Orleans. Preceding the actual showing of the gowns, Madame Alice d'Orleans, of Paris, France, in charge of the fashion show, gave a most interesting and instructive talk relative to the new styles in women's apparel. Madame d'Orleans is a very vivacious French woman, and speaks English with a very delightful French accent. She held the undivided attention of her audience but when she spoke of the "bowly-ro" it was apparent that the audience did not comprehend. She repeated it: "The little bowly-ro—the jacket." Then some one came to her rescue. It was the bolero of which she was speaking, thefad of the moment which had returned with such marked prominence in this year's styles.

Madame d'Orleans spoke first on the new styles in dress and told how the more feminine models have brought back some of the dignity and stateliness that went out with the knee-length dresses. She asserts that the new style clothes are very wearable and practical. "The later the hour the longer the frock" is the term applied to the new dresses, and Madame d'Orleans gave the following measurements for proper lengths: 13 to 15 inches for sports wear; 10 to 12 inches for afternoon gowns; ankle length for dinner and dance frocks, and for formal evening wear the gowns touch the floor.

Stunning Costumes. The pretty French manikins with their chic Parisienne manner, wore the clothes in the most graceful manner. Most of the frocks were made with the normal waistline, which is now known as the "high waistline." The skirts are uneven except in the sports and tailored clothes, and the capes, boleros and tuck-in blouses are much in evidence. The numerous pleats are quite noticeable, and many of the dresses are made with the pleats not pressed down tightly. In the sports dresses the dominating materials are tweed, tulle, dentelle, cashmere and wool. A particularly striking costume displayed was a sporty ensemble of tan tweed, dentelle, which is tweed lace in English. It was the two-piece ensemble, the cape being worn to make it suitable for afternoon. The afternoon dresses are of crepe, chiffon, georgette and are made on long, flowing lines. A most attractive afternoon ensemble was of vio crepe, made by Lucille Parey, with a Russian blouse of shantung, trimmed with black and olive green. Worn with it was a large hat of Panama straw.

In the evening gowns, chiffons and lace predominate. However, many were made of the new mousseline de soie. An unusual feature of the evening costumes were the becoming evening hats worn with the gowns, made of very soft materials, such as net, tulle, and mullin. A particularly lovely gown was of delicate green mousseline de soie, trimmed about the neckline with matching tulle. The skirt was in tiers of the material, and a large tulle bow was artistically arranged at the back of the waist. American-made copies of all models shown may be ordered at Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Company, bringing to our front doors the latest fads and features worn by the ever-starry Parisiennes on the Rue de la Paix.

Newspapers of Nation Swing to Wet Stands

NEW YORK, April 7.—(UN)—Opposition to prohibition, as measured by the policies of newspapers throughout the country, is growing, the New York Herald Tribune says today in announcing returns from questionnaires the Herald Tribune addressed to 500 newspapers in 48 states. Answers have been received to date, the Tribune will say, from 110 of these papers, 55 of them being aligned as wet and 55 as dry. In this same group in 1919 the dry newspapers outnumbered the wets by more than two to one. The 55 wet newspapers, which include those opposed to both the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead law, have a combined circulation of 5,531,288, and the 55 dry papers have a combined circulation of 1,548,409. Of the 55 newspapers expressing wet sentiments today, 22 said they had favored the eighteenth amendment when it was ratified. Fifteen said they had originally favored the Volstead law.

YAZOO CITY PLANS SPECIAL ELECTION

YAZOO CITY, Miss., April 7.—(AP)—The board of commissioners has issued a call for a special election to be held May 5 to elect a mayor to fill the vacancy resulting from the death last Tuesday of Mayor J. O. Stricklin, Sr., who committed suicide after fatally wounding Frank R. Birdall, editor and publisher of the Tri-Weekly Sentinel.

Dewitt Love, M. L. Stigler and R. M. Miskim, who are at present acting mayor, have announced as candidates for the office. The race bids fair to be hotly contested.

Air Speed Ace Called Before Congress Body

WASHINGTON, April 7.—(AP)—Alford J. Williams, former speed flier of the navy, has been called to testify tomorrow before a subcommittee of the senate naval affairs committee.

tee as the first witness in an investigation into airplane equipment.

The inquiry will be on a resolution introduced by Senator Tydings, democrat, Maryland, who said he wanted to ascertain why the United States navy lagged behind other countries in fast pursuit and bombing planes.

Williams recently resigned from the navy after being transferred to sea duty. He has conducted experiments intended to develop a fast naval plane.

Twenty-fourth installment.

"Don't jump to conclusions," Stopford murmured. "For the moment, stick to facts. Seems to me there's one vulnerable spot in this web: I'm referring to Head Centre."

"Head Centre is a great genius..." "Then you've met him?" Stopford exclaimed. "Describe the artist. Re-late where's he to be caught perform-ing."

"I cannot describe him," Madame Czerna replied. "Whenever I have seen him he has been disguised. He wears a dreadful rubber mask. Even his hands are cased in rubber gloves."

"But the bird must roost somewhere?" "I have always been taken to headquarters, and I suppose the same routine is observed with other some officers—she laughed harshly—"in a closed car. Except that the room in which he was interviewed me is somewhere in New York. I can give you no idea of its location."

"But it sounds like a nightmare to me," Stopford declared. "If it's true—and Roscoe believes it's marvelous, but ghastly. And at the same time, it has its weak points. It's a wonderful web, with one really wonky point, as I remarked before, the spider."

He stepped forward in the darkness toward Madame Czerna.

"Whoever you are," she said, "you're a sport, through and through. This zone block may be powerful, but I'm not going to let you go. We're hand in hand on this thing. How you got into it is a mystery to me, but you've promised to explain."

"You don't understand," she said tremulously. "Wait until I have told you everything."

"You're going to tell me everything! But whatever you tell me will make no difference. We're going to see this thing through together."

"No, no!" she whispered—"it's impossible."

Then, suddenly, she was clinging to him, and his arms went about her. Nor did she resist, until:

"Listen!" she whispered. "Do you hear it—do you hear it?"

The man's clasp tightened.

"I hear it," he replied in a low voice. "But don't panic—it may be nothing."

Intending upon the silence of the house had come a faint sound. It was made by the creaking of a door being slowly opened.

New York suffers from insomnia. At an hour when even the gayer capitals of Europe would have begun to blink themselves into sleep, a certain street between Broad and Sixth avenue still displayed every evidence of liveliness. A car turned into this street and pulled up before the door of a small and unpretentious restaurant. The establishment was apparently closed, and there was nothing interesting about the appearance of the place except its name, exhibited upon a sign protruding above the door. Without rhyme or reason, since this was a chop shop, the sign read "The Blue Barber."

A chauffeur pressed a bell beside the door. Almost immediately the door was opened. A man, alighted from the car and hurried in. The door closed. The car moved off in the direction of Sixth avenue.

As the street door closed, out of darkness:

"H. Q.," said a musical voice. "Anything to report?"

The reply was spoken gutturally. "Stand by."

The speaker pressed a button and a faint sound indicated that a panel door had opened. He entered. The panel closed behind him.

He mounted a flight of stairs and came to a landing, apparently consisting of the stairhead, a window, shaded, and two blank walls. His foot pressed upon a square of geometrical patterned carpet, and one of the walls slid back, proving to be the door of an elevator. Into this the man stepped and the elevator ascended. It stopped at sixth floor and the man stepped out into a bare-furnished sitting-room. A bookcase in this apartment was the door of another elevator. But the visitor did not delay here. He crossed to the door and went out. He traversed a long corridor, many apartments opening upon it. Coming to the end, he descended three flights of marble steps and admitted himself to an office. Then came the sound of a panel door opening and closing; and this strange but moving in the night of the city was once more in a small elevator, ascending. Eight floors were passed. At the ninth the car stopped.

He was again in a corridor that terminated in a flight of stairs. He mounted four floors. Windows lighted the landings and the torch became extinguished again. Yet another door was opened and closed and an extensive range of offices traversed. The man moved confidently and almost silently. Wraith-like he passed from building to building, but ever mounting higher. Finally, he came out into the strangest room in New York city.

The walls were black and gold, and the ceiling was a high dome of dull gold. It was lighted by four lamps in black tripods, and, except for a long narrow table set in the center of the room, was very bare in appearance. The man seated himself at this table, glancing at a number of notes which lay there. He did not remove his hat, but a standard lamp on the table threw his face into startling relief against the blackness of the background.

For a moment this impression prevailed, then came complete darkness, until a point of red light suddenly broke it.

"H. Q.," said a sing-song voice. "Report of Zone Officer 2 A."

The man replied: "Report of Zone Officer 2 A."

"No report to hand."

"Report of H. Q. patrol covering."

"To hand," replied the sing-song voice. "Patrol reports that Zone Officer of Ned W. Regan at 3:48 a. m. It is believed that her escape was effected by Dr. Stopford, who left the Page Sutton home at the same time. H. Q. patrol detailed three fitting groups. Timed 4 a. m. Report ends."

"Report of group masters detailed," came the musical tones.

"Only one report to hand," was the answer. "Group Master 3, Sector 3 A, reports Zone Officer 2 A located at roadhouse 15 miles from home of Page Sutton, accompanied by Dr. Stopford. Group master standing by. Awaits instructions. This by X Radio. Timed 4:21. Report ends."

"Instruct Divisional Chief A to dispatch three more fitting groups to hold all approaches to the roadhouse. Zone Officer 2 A to be put in charge. He is to endeavor at once to get in touch with Zone Officer 2 A. File quarter hourly reports. Move. Stand by for another order."

"Report of Zone Officer 1 A covering the Page Sutton home," the musical voice resumed.

"Report to hand. Ned W. Regan left in his car headed for the city at 4:05 a. m. Group master covering. Commander Drake Roscoe has not left. Operations unsuccessful. Zone Officer awaits instructions. Report ends."

"Report of Divisional Chief B."

"Immediately came the reply: 'Report to hand. All units have been withdrawn, although every road is patrolled by police. Report ends.'"

"Instruct Divisional Chief B," came the order, "to assemble all units in Sector 3 B 2 and to take personal charge. At the earliest moment he will hand them over to Divisional Chief A. He will then stand by for instructions to intercept Commander Drake Roscoe at the exit of his law, ing the Page Sutton home. Directly contact is established with Zone Officer 2 A, put her in touch with me. If Dr. Stopford endeavors to leave, he is to be intercepted. Excepting those employed under Schedules 9 and 11, all units in all Divisions are to stand by. This is a General Emergency Order. Move."

The red light went out.

The reason I am so helplessly in the power of Head Centre," said Madame Czerna to Dr. Stopford, "is that my husband, who died, was sentenced for a crime which he never committed. Three months after the marriage he was sent to Devil's Island. I succeeded after two years of trying in getting the French authorities to consent to allow me to go out to Cayenne. This, by their law, made me a convict, too, and after the death of my husband I was forbidden to return. I was expected to remain in French Guiana."

THE ATLANTA RETAIL
MERCHANTS' ASSOCIATION

Court Clerk Candidates Preparing for Election

Bitter George-Simmons Campaign Enlivens Race;
Church and Davidson
Also Seeking Post.

With the election to select a successor to the late Thomas Miller, clerk of Fulton county superior court, in the four-cornered contest, slated for Wednesday, opponents Monday drew their lines together for the battle of ballots and prepared to use every force at their respective commands to gather in the largest harvest of votes. Fraught with a series of charges and counter charges in which the two chief contenders—James M. George, incumbent, and J. Walter Simmons—have attacked each other's records and methods of conducting the campaign, what at first appeared to be a rather tame and uninteresting affair has aroused considerable interest.

The George camp has exhibited certified records of the tax receiver's office in an effort to prove that Simmons is not a qualified candidate and could not hold the post if elected, while Simmons has countered with a charge of "mud-slinging."

George forces then exhibited an opinion of leading attorneys in support of their contention, and declared that Simmons admitted the fact when he paid about $70 in back taxes last week after the time for qualifying had elapsed under the law.

This has been met with an assertion by the Simmons faction that George is a candidate of an alleged county ring.

Mr. George Monday night pointed to the present holders of positions in the clerk's office at the courthouse, declaring that these incumbents have performed their services in an efficient and faithful manner.

"They would have held those posts until the expiration of the four-year term for which Mr. Miller was elected, but for the latter's untimely death," Mr. George said.

"Election of any other candidate for this post will throw this group of faithful and efficient employees out of jobs through no fault of their own, but because of an act of Providence. Almost every member of the bar in Atlanta—those who deal most with the office and who are in a position to know the facts—have endorsed my candidacy. A mistake in recording a deed, and such is highly probable with inexperienced men and women in that office, might cost some voter his own home."

Robert E. Church, attorney, and R. J. Davidson, sales representative, the other two contenders for the post, have waged quieter campaigns and have not become parties to the bitter fight between Simmons and George.

Preparation for inspection of various units of the 122d infantry, located in Atlanta, was the principal matter to be discussed Monday night at the officers' meeting in the auditorium-armory. Colonel G. I. O'Keefe, commanding the regiment, presided, and emphasized the necessity for making "the usual fine showing."

Spring training work also came in for some discussion and Colonel O'Keefe told the officers of the local national guard regiment that "every minute between now and the middle of July should be devoted to perfecting companies for the rigid program set for the annual encampment at Fort McClellan. Regular army officers who will inspect the Atlanta regiment will begin their work Wednesday morning of this week and their duties here probably will require at least 10 days, it is said. These officers will be guests Wednesday of the local officers of the guard at the weekly luncheon at the Ansley hotel. It is expected that Brigadier General Homer C. Parker, the adjutant general, also will be present at the luncheon.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—(AP)—Bolling field officials said late today that fire had destroyed the parachute hut and an airplane hangar adjoining, but the blaze had been brought under control within 45 minutes before further damage was done.

TEN MILLION VOTED FOR NAVAL BUILDING

WASHINGTON, April 1.—(AP)—The navy would be authorized to proceed immediately with construction costing more than $10,000,000 under a bill passed today by the senate and sent to the house.

The following projects would be authorized:
Floating drydock at San Diego naval station, $425,000.
Waterfront development, Pearl Harbor, Hawaii naval station, $1,200,000, with harbor and channel improvement continuation, $500,000 additional.

Submarine base, Pearl Harbor, general facilities, $200,000; officers' quarters, $100,000.
Metal aircraft structures shop for San Diego naval air station, $130,000; physical instruction gymnasium and welfare buildings, $175,000; seven land plane hangars, $275,000.

Puget sound navy yard, Washington, pier accessories and crane, $1,310,000; equipment house, $100,000; paint and oil storehouse, $125,000.
Naval air station, Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, hangar, $224,000; and torpedo storage and charging plant, $25,000.

Naval air station, Coco Solo, Canal Zone, aircraft overhaul shop, $90,000; officers' quarters, $120,000.
Lakeland (N. J.) naval air station, barracks for enlisted men and marines, $250,000; gas cell shop and storage building, $25,000; quarters for married officers, $80,000.

Marine barracks, Quantico, Va., enlisted men's barracks, roads, walks and distributing systems, $1,450,000.
Marine Corps flying field, Quantico, filling and grading flying field, $500,000.
Navy yard Norfolk, Va., purchase or condemnation of land and dredging, $85,000.

Naval air station, Anacostia, District of Columbia, officers' office, barracks and mess hall, $275,000; heating plant and distributing system, $25,000.
Philadelphia navy yard, storage facilities for gear for drydock No. 3, $10,000.
Naval base, Canal Zone, commandant's quarters, $35,000; officers' quarters, $58,000.

Submarine base, Coco Solo, Canal Zone, officers' quarters, $240,000.
Hampton Roads, Va., naval air station, administration building, $200,000; naval training station, barracks and mess hall, $80,000.
The navy secretary, under the bill, would be authorized to acquire the site of the marine corps flying field at Reid, Quantico, Va., at a cost of not more than $15,000, in addition to $20,000 made available in 1925.
Acquisition of the naval air station site at Sumner, and the naval station at Piti, Guam, would be authorized, with an appropriation of $900,000.

Swarm of Locusts Threatens Egypt
LONDON, April 1.—(UN)—Egypt was threatened by one of the greatest plagues in its history today as swarms of locusts advanced toward the Suez canal and the Nile valley from Palestine and trans-Jordan, a Cairo dispatch to the London Daily Telegraph said.

The government has voted 50,000 pounds sterling (about $200,000) to fight the locusts which the dispatch said already had devastated hundreds of acres of cultivated land. A shipment of 140 flame-throwers and 200 tons of liquid fire has been sent to the afflicted region.

The forced labor system known as "corvee" has been reinstated in Trans-Jordan by Emir Abdullah, the dispatch said, and 75,000 men were working day and night there to combat the swarms.

The locusts, flying in thick clouds, had delayed trains on some lines, the report said.

LaGuardia Asks Dry Disarmament Parley
WASHINGTON, April 1.—(AP)—A list of the firearms furnished by the war department to the prohibition bureau was inserted in the Congressional Record by Representative La Guardia, republican, New York, a wet, with a statement that a "disarmament conference for the prohibition unit would not be out of place."

"Perhaps when Secretary of State Stimson and his colleagues return from London," La Guardia said, "they might take up the question of disarmament the prohibition unit, thereby curtailing the death rate of innocent bystanders and peaceful citizens."

"It would be of interest to note," the New Yorker said, "that as late as January 1, 1930, two automatic rifles, caliber 8, were furnished to the acting prohibition administrator in Oklahoma City, and two automatic rifles, caliber 30, to the prohibition administrator in Tulsa, Okla."

La Guardia's list of army firearms issued to the prohibition bureau included 2470 revolvers, 693 pistols, 370 rifles, 14 machine guns, 64 automatic rifles, 6 sporting type shotguns and 525 riot type shotguns.

Hoover's Brother Is Capital Visitor
WASHINGTON, April 1.—(AP)—For the first time since Herbert Hoover became president, Theodore Jesse Hoover, his only brother, is visiting him at the White House.

The two dined together tonight and last night, and after the older brother of the president finished attending the sessions of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, he will move into the White House for a stay of several days with his brother.

Theodore Hoover, dean of engineering at Stanford University, was ill at the time his brother was inaugurated and could not attend the ceremonies. They spent much time together two years ago on the two occasions when Mr. Hoover visited California during the presidential campaign. The duties of the older brother have not permitted him to visit the chief executive, however, since that time.

Tomorrow night he will attend a dinner at the Mayflower hotel, at which Herbert Hoover will receive a special medal from the engineering society in recognition of his "humanitarian" engineering.

BROTHER-IN-LAW DEFENDS CARVER

Brother of Slain Wife Declares Faith in Mate's Innocence.

SEBRING, Fla., April 1.—(AP)—Julius Staff, brother of Mrs. William R. Carver, with whose murder her husband, William R. Carver, former Philadelphia real estate man, is charged, visited Carver in his cell in the county jail here today.

Carver is charged with killing his wife, their small son and Ben Whitehead, negro yardman, at their home here last week.

Staff said today he did not believe Carver committed the crime and that he thought the first coroner's jury, which absolved Carver of all blame, returned the "proper verdict."

He said he had known Carver for 10 years as a "devoted and loyal husband."

Judge W. D. Bell, Arcadia, who has been engaged as defense counsel, also was a visitor in the county jail today. Judge Bell said he "had nothing to say."

Carver was indicted on three counts Saturday night by the grand jury. One indictment charged him with murdering his wife by cutting and beating her to death with a hatchet; another indictment charged the same manner of slaying in the case of the son, while the third charged Carver killed the negro by shooting him to death.

Carver, who admitted he killed the

Pleas of 2 Husbands Fail To Release Wife

CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 1.—(UN)—Pleas by both her husbands failed to convince police today that they ought to release Mrs. Anna Burcel Wolf, held on a bigamy charge.

It is alleged she married Joseph Wolf, divorced him, married Lawrence Kolman and then remarried Wolf without bothering to get another divorce.

Kolman went to police headquarters today and demanded Mrs. Wolfe's immediate release.

"Why?" he was asked.
"I got to have somebody to keep house," said Burcel. "She's a swell housekeeper."

Soon afterward Wolf arrived.
"I want my wife," he said.
"Why?" he also was asked.
"Don't I have to eat? I wouldn't lose her for a lot. That girl can cook."

Megan Lloyd George Makes First Speech

LONDON, April 1.—(UN)—Megan Lloyd George, 27-year-old daughter of former Premier David Lloyd George, and Malcolm MacDonald, son of Premier J. Ramsay MacDonald, made their maiden speeches in the house of commons tonight.

Each expressed the hope of not disgracing "dad's reputation," and each was roundly cheered.

Mrs. Lloyd George, a liberal like her father, and young MacDonald, a laborite like the premier, spoke in favor of the government's anti-slums bill.

182 Bills Passed In Both Houses
WASHINGTON, April 1.—(AP)—In the busiest day of the session, the two branches of congress today acted on 182 bills dealing with subjects as widely diversified as appropriating $30,000,000 for constructing forest roads, erecting a memorial to William Jennings Bryan and paying off a Civil War debt.

In a burst of activity, the senate disposed of 126 bills from its tariff-jammed calendar, passing the measures at a rate of almost one a minute.

In a more leisurely fashion, the house acted upon 56 measures, passing 32 of them, and either objecting to or passing over without prejudice 24 others.

Action Without Harm Whenever Constipated
Here's a way to be rid of constipation and its ills—a way that works quickly, effectively, but gently.

A candy Cascaret at night—the next morning you're feeling fine. Breath is sweetened; tongue cleared; biliousness, headache, dizziness, gas vanish. Repeat it: treatment two or three nights to get the souring waste out of your system. See how appetite and energy return; how digestion improves.

The action of Cascarets is sure, complete, helpful to everyone. They are made from cascara, which doctors agree actually strengthens bowel muscles. All drug stores have the 10c boxes.—(adv.)

C. & O. WINS APPROVAL OF RAIL ACQUISITION

Acquisition by the Chesapeake & Ohio railway of the Hocking Valley railway was authorized today by the interstate commerce commission simultaneously with the approval of the Chesapeake & Ohio of its pending application for consolidation of 11 carriers.

The Van Sweringen road advised C. D. Mahaffie, finance director of the commission, that it was not desirous of a consolidation with the Hocking the old plan in view of the subsequently issued consolidation program of the commission. The old plan was abandoned without prejudice to the filing of a new one which is expected shortly.

Approval of the Chesapeake & Ohio's acquisition of the Hocking Valley on the basis of 2 1-4 share of its stock for one share of Hocking stock and the issuance of new common was given over the protest of Commissioner Eastman, and with Commissioner Woodcock writing a separate opinion.

The order provided that the present road shall not without authority of the commission dispose of any of its own stock received in exchange for its holdings of Hocking Valley stock without authorization of the commission.

The approval also was conditioned upon the Chesapeake & Ohio cancelling as soon as possible $12,801,000 of general mortgage 6 per cent bonds of the Hocking Valley now held by the treasury of the road as security for notes.

SENATE PASSES BILL ON COLLECTIVE FARMS

Authorizes 12 Millions for Supervised Developments in South.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—(AP)—Appropriation of $12,000,000 for the establishment of rural communities in 50 southern and southwestern states, to demonstrate benefits of planned settlements and supervised rural developments, would be authorized under a bill passed today by the senate.

The measure now goes to the house.

The states in which the communities would be established are Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Texas.

Under the bill, by Senator Simmons, democrat, North Carolina, the interior secretary, acting through the reclamation bureau, would acquire land in each state, suitable for at least 200 farms and farm workers' allotments.

The interior secretary, through the bureau would carry out development, settlement and supervisory work. He would offer the farms and allotments for sale and specify terms for payment of the purchase price extending up to 40 years. The secretary would be authorized to advance as much as $3,000 for permanent improvement on each farm, and as much as $1,000 on each farm worker's allotment.

The bill provides that not more than $2,000,000 of the proposed appropriation be expended in any one of the states named.

PHONE SYSTEM LINKS BERLIN AND MOSCOW

MOSCOW, April 7.—(AP)—The soviet capital is now linked by direct telephone with Berlin. The Associated Press correspondent here Sunday talked with the Berlin correspondent for 15 minutes, the conversation being as clear as it is between two local telephone stations of any American city.

The line is not at present available for the transmission of news dispatches by Moscow correspondents, but it is understood that the authorities are now discussing this question.

Gold Star Mothers Throng 'Seven Days' Leave' Opening

Many Take Advantage of Opportunity To Be Guests at Showing of Unusual Picture.

"SEVEN DAYS' LEAVE," a Paramount production from the 8th James Barrie play, "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals," starring Gary Cooper and featuring Bert Luger, a Radio-Keith-Orpheum bill, Paramount Sound and Silent News, Rubeville Night Club. Picture at 1:30, 3:30, 5:30 and 7:30. Vaudeville at 2:30, 5:30, 9:00.

Radicalism in the ranks of Paramount, coming as a result of some unknown executive's courage and death-defying belief that a Barrie story would be members to box-office popularity even if two heretofore unequivocally necessary factors were missing, is responsible for "Seven Days' Leave," strangest and one of the most charming of our tales.

The picture opened Monday at Keith's Georgia theater, and in response to the telegraphed invitation extended on behalf of The Constitution last week by Gary Cooper to every gold star mother in Greater Atlanta, many were entertained at the theater on the first day. Gold star mothers will be admitted free at any performance of the week.

Members of members of the American Legion also will be guests of The Constitution at any performance this week, provided, however, that these are accompanied by their sons.

"Seven Days' Leave," which comes to the screen from "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals," by Sir James Barrie, breaks away from iron-bound traditions of the screen and if Monday's business at the theater holds up, it will be a highly successful coup on the part of Paramount.

The reviewer admits some hesitancy in revealing these radical departures for the picture's youngest woman is 65, and there is no wisp of a "romance" element. It is a plain, simple, but intensely powerful story of the love of an old lady for a discouraged, broken soldier boy, told in the beautiful manner that has endeared Barrie to international hearts.

It is typically Barrie from start to finish. Which is to say that throughout there is that touch of whimsical humor which offsets with gentle chuckles the moments of tender poignancy.

Rialto Is Warned To Keep Fire Rules

John Comy, lessee of the Rialto theater, on Monday served notice on Dr. M. Sayle Taylor, seologist now presenting "Married Love" twice daily at the theater, that violations of the fire rules which prohibit patrons standing in the aisles or blocking the exits must cease, or the lease of the theater would be abrogated.

The action was taken by Mr. Comy after he had received a warning from the local fire department, which stated that on a number of nights last week the Rialto was so crowded that several of the exits were blocked by standing patrons.

Dr. Taylor's business representative assured Mr. Comy that they would strictly observe the city fire rules in the future. "Crowds have been so large every night during the two weeks Dr. Taylor has been giving his presentation on truths about life, that the Rialto has been filled to capacity on numerous occasions. Dr. Taylor is appearing twice daily all week, at 2:30 and 8:30, speaking to audiences of women only in the afternoons and on Friday night, and to men only every night except Friday.

Hoover Approves Bill To Restore 'Ironside's'

WASHINGTON, April 7.—(AP)—Assurance that "Old Ironsides" again will sail the seas that she once com-

At the Fox.

"HIGH SOCIETY BLUES," all-talking and singing feature, with Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell. News reel. Enrico Leide conducting feature. Symphony orchestra. On the stage, Fanchon and Marco Idea "Baby Song." Don Wilkins and stage band. Iris Wilkins at the organ.

"High Society Blues," Gaynor and Farrell's successor to "Sunny Side Up." Critically speaking, not quite as good as the earlier picture but, for crowd appeal, probably at least equal, if not better. Janet Gaynor runs away with the honors for the pair, her appealing little voice and that catching little smile delighting the audience to laughter and audible applause. Sweet is the only adjective. Farrell is not so important to the success of the picture. He provides the object for Janet's smiles and sweetness and strums a clever ukulele.

Supporting cast excellent. Splendid character work done by Lucien Littlefield and our old friend, Louise Fazenda. William Collier, Sr., and Hedda Hopper are likewise good, while a newcomer named Joyce Compton makes a most lovable little miss of about the debutante age.

Best song is "I'm in the Market for You," with "Just Like a Story Book" running a close second.

On the stage Fanchon and Marco have sent us an "Idea" that is better than the usual run in so far as the numbers provided by the "Sunkist Beauties" are concerned. Some of the separate acts are good, also. This reviewer liked the dancing of the girl team and scored the athletic act as quite good. Couldn't do much for the comedy trio, even though the girl was related to a famous screen star, and the double-voiced singer just got over, that's all.

Enrico Leide's orchestra again provided one of the best spots in the program with a spirited rendition of the famous Second Hungarian Rhapsody, and Don Wilkins with his stage band remains about our beau ideal of master of ceremonies.

There was a good crowd at the Fox Monday afternoon and probabilities are that the theater, big as it is, will be taxed to capacity on numerous occasions. Because there isn't a more popular pair on the talking screen than Janet Gaynor and Farrell, and "High Society Blues" is, beyond question, a likable comedy, it is not surprising that a lot of favorable word of mouth advertising brought Monday's crowds have finished talking about it.

—RALPH T. JONES.

manded was given today in the signature by President Hoover of a bill appropriating $300,000 for the completion of her restoration.

Erlanger Has Bright Comedy In "Nancy's Private Affair"

Daniel Frohman, distinguished manager of the American stage, was present at the opening performance of "Nancy's Private Affair," by the Erlanger Theater Players Monday night. Director Harry McKee, without advance warning, called on Mr. Frohman between second and third acts and the famous old impresario rose and paid as neat a tribute to a group of performers as ever fell to their lot.

After the compliments he paid them, both public and privately after the show, these Erlanger Theater Players of ours should be completely pardoned if they immediately demand double salaries, has four sizes larger, no matinees and only three night performances a week.

Joking aside, however, the performance they gave us of this wonderfully clever comedy of domestic troubles, "Nancy's Private Affair," deserved all the encomiums Mr. Frohman or any one else could heap upon it. Their work was splendid and, while it is getting a trifle monotonous to say that each week's show is the best the production company has done since the beginning of the season, it is a strong temptation to say it again this week.

"Nancy's Private Affair" reminds quite a lot of "Let Us Be Gay," the comedy that served to first introduce this company to Atlanta. Which is happy augury for the week, for all remember how you enjoyed the first offering.

Miss Louise Outstanding.

Outstanding this week is the work of Helen Louise Lewis, on whose capable shoulders falls by far the most difficult role of the play. It is evident that the authors wrote with the idea of featuring one special star, and though they probably didn't have Miss Lewis in mind, they couldn't have done better if they had meant it for her all the time. The part of Nancy fits the delightful leading lady like the proverbial glove. The saucy and clever and witty and beautiful.

At the Paramount.

"THE BENSON MURDER CASE," a Paramount talker, starring William Powell. News reel and short subjects. Feature picture starts at 12:10, 2:15, 4:07, 6:01, 7:55 and 9:40 o'clock.

Philo Vance, as represented by the suave Mr. Powell, is with us again in "The Benson Murder Case," picking his ties with laudable taste and his murderers with equally commendable precision.

This chapter in M. Van Dine's symposium of violent death is far less lurid than some of its predecessors. Two killed and one wounded is the complete casualty list, and the second demise is merely the criminal getting his just deserts at the hands of Sergeant Heath, who, it would seem, shoots straighter than he thinks. However, the killer breaks the monotony by taking a pop at Philo, himself and we expect that Philo, being in danger, really is more thrilling than the actual assassination of three or four lesser characters. It strikes us as a sound idea at that, this shooting at the detective. We never could figure out why the killers always allow themselves to be run down by the clever fellows without at least taking some steps in the matter.

Let not the above light treatment mislead you as to the worth of the picture under discussion. It is fully as good as the others of the series and as such is a cinematic paradise for mystery-film fans and right good entertainment for the rest of us. To break the monotony of vaudeville and musical shows wretchedly transferred to the screen it gets our hearty approval. And—not a single song is sung.

The short subjects, like the introduction, are with us as always. Partly passing good, partly pretty bad and mostly to fill in the program to give the folks their money's worth.

—LEWIS HAWKINS.

At the Metropolitan.

Belle Baker in "SONG OF LOVE," a Paramount talker, starring William Powell. News reel and short subjects. Feature picture starts at 12:10, 2:15, 4:07, 6:01, 7:55 and 9:40 o'clock.

Belle Baker, in "Song of Love," is the most pleasing part of the program this week at the Metropolitan.

It is a sentimental story, reeking with pathos, of a couple on the stage who quarrel, separate and are ultimately united through the medium of their child, affording excellent opportunity for a deep-throated, appealing voice, such as Belle Baker possesses, to display its powers. Can she sing? Go there and hear.

Young Eddie Durant comes forward in "Song of Love" to assume prominence in juvenile roles. Slightly senior to "Sonny Boy" he is as handsome and straightforward a kid who has appeared on the screen. And he has a voice that should make him famous in the talkies.

Ralph Graves, as the husband, also does some exceptional work. On the whole it is a good picture—and Belle Baker's singing alone is worth the price.

"Baby Babes," of course, is a melody of songs and girls, with much tap dancing and the stage in imminent danger of being stamped into the base.

—RALPH T. JONES.

Grand Presents Negro Life Epic In "Hallelujah"

Every now and then it happens. Something new supplants the old. A producer of the silent screen forsakes the rut to which he has been accustomed, and his efforts result in an entertainment of the highest merit.

That something new—"Hallelujah"—is at the Grand theater this week. That it is worth while to see the unanimous verdict of everyone present. And it was good to be a part of that audience. It recalled old times. From the very first about the attendance started picking up. By 6 o'clock at night there were few seats left in that great house. There was every indication that the O. sign today and throughout the week.

"Hallelujah" is an epic of the cotton field. It brings back days of youth to many—white and black—who once were a part of the farm life of the south. It even makes cotton-picking attractive—on the screen.

The play, which is presented by an all-negro cast, directed by King Vidor, reveals in the simple life, abounds in primitive impulses, glorifies religious emotion is portrayed. There is comedy which brings immediate response in laughter from the audience. There is the lure of the woman, the excitement of the gamblers' den, and raw tragedy when Zeke accidentally kills his brother, while trying to recover his money from a dice crook and his siren assistant. And there is singing—just one song after another.

All of the scenes are simple ones, but where mighty setting are not necessary on account of the plot, natural scenery and casts, mighty in numbers take their place. Perhaps the most impressive and most spectacular tableaux are the camp meeting where Zeke, as an evangelist, stirs his audience into a frenzy and the gathering of thousands of white-robed worshippers on the banks of the Mississippi for the baptism ceremony.

Methods of the colored evangelist differ little from those employed by some of his white brethren of today. He tells his lure and he goes to take them on a trip with him on a train bound for hell. There are three steps on the way, he says. One is Faith, the second is Obedience, the third is Repentance. "That's mighty hot in Repentance, but it's hotter still in the other place. I'm going the whole route with you," he adds.

Fortunately for the preacher and his congregation the last sinner comes into the fold at Repentance and the train is halted.

The last one to be converted is the Delilah who was the indirect cause of Zeke's killing his brother. Again and again she causes him to fall from grace. "The devil keeps pulling at me. He won't let me alone," she says.

The role of Zeke is played by Daniel Hayes, who sang "Old Man River" in "Showboat," and the circle of the story is Nina May McKinley, of "Blackbird." Hayes lived in Atlanta for a number of years and is well-known here.

At the Capitol.

"A LADY TO LOVE," all-talking feature with Vilma Banky. News reel and short subjects. On the stage, program of Loew vaudeville. Picture starts at 1:05, 3:05, 5:05 and 7:05. Stage show starts at 2:30, 5:30 and 9:30.

There is, for example, one Edward G. Robinson, antecedents unknown. He plays the male lead to Vilma Banky's "Lena" in the feature picture, "A Lady to Love." Banky may be all of that. Certainly she is little more. She gives voice for the first time in her career. The result is what you might have expected.

Robinson, however, crases all the stinging of Vilma's pseudo-Garbo voice, her pseudo-Garbo style, and her worse-than-Garbo-ever-thought-of-being acting.

Robinson, who has only recently fallen for the glitter of Ha-Ha-Hollywood, gives THE performance of the picture. The part is that of a timid, illiterate Italian grape-grower. One who has, to compensate for his literary failings, an understanding of life and a philosophical outlook on life.

Robinson plays that role with feeling as an actor. And Robinson injects a refreshing brand of humor into the picture. Robinson is what you've been looking for.

And one Emile Boreo, riding the crest of the Chevalier wave, puts over a distinctive, original act to top the stage bill.

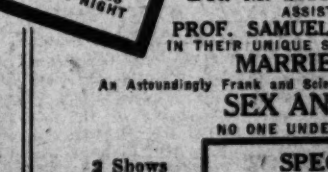

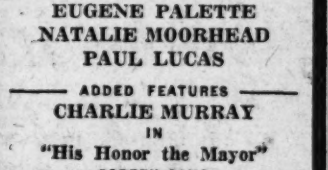

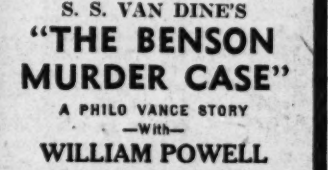

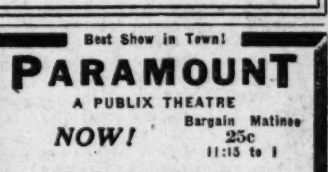

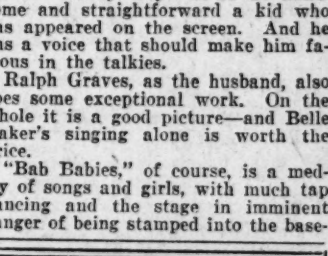

Boreo has a few French—in the traditional manner—songs, a few clever tricks, a pleasing personality. He makes the act of all these things. His one fault is an essaying of the rather childish "community song" idea. Just why vaudeville performers carry on this custom is one of the things beyond human powers of comprehension. Do not, by any means, allow yourself to be persuaded to leave the act, off your list for this single small bit, however. For otherwise Boreo is good.

Alf Loyal, with a clever dog act, also gets a hand.

Joe Fejer, with an evidently talented but unmistakably undeveloped young soprano, and Kirby and Duval are just among those present.

News reels and short complete the bill.

$50,000,000 Erie Railroad Company

REFUNDING AND IMPROVEMENT MORTGAGE 5% GOLD BONDS
SERIES OF 1930

Dated April 1, 1930 Due April 1, 1975
Interest payable April 1 and October 1 in New York City

Redeemable in whole or in part, at the Company's option, upon 60 days' notice, on any interest payment date, at the following prices and accrued interest: On or prior to October 1, 1966, at 105%; thereafter on or prior to October 1, 1971, at 102½%; and thereafter, at 100%.

Coupon Bonds in denominations of $1,000 and $500, registrable as to principal. Registered Bonds in denominations of $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000. Coupon and registered Bonds, and the several denominations of each, interchangeable.

The issue and sale of these Bonds have been authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

BANKERS TRUST COMPANY, NEW YORK, TRUSTEE.

C. E. Denney, Esq., President of Erie Railroad Company, has summarized as follows his letter to us regarding this issue:

ERIE RAILROAD SYSTEM The Erie Railroad System covers the so-called trunk line territory and serves the important gateways and traffic centers of Buffalo, Cleveland, Youngstown and Akron, and Scranton and the anthracite coal fields of Pennsylvania. Its main line from New York to Chicago has a high freight traffic density and, except for a distance of nine miles, is double-tracked throughout. The total mileage operated is 2,216 miles. In 1927 the management made plans for extensive improvements to motive power, rolling stock and road bed. This program has since been actively followed and has already resulted in substantial operating economies.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE These $50,000,000 Bonds are being issued to provide for the retirement of $20,486,500 principal amount of bonds maturing this year, for the reimbursement of the Company's treasury for $5,442,250 of matured obligations heretofore acquired and for other corporate purposes including reimbursement for past expenditures for additions and betterments. That part of the proceeds not required for the retirement of the above-mentioned $20,486,500 bonds maturing in 1930 will be applied to the payment of $5,000,000 short term notes, toward the Company's 1930 budget of about $22,000,000 for additions and betterments, and to other corporate purposes.

Years Ended December 31	Gross Operating Revenues	Income Applicable to Fixed Charges	Total Fixed Charges	Net Income
1925	$118,543,455	$21,698,418	$14,969,112	$76,739,306
1926	125,473,504	24,327,370	14,813,977	101,139,157
1927	122,478,354	18,461,587	14,948,938	103,516,849
1928	124,916,542	24,722,439	14,719,555	109,664,548
1929	129,239,437	26,170,579	14,492,870	112,677,788

During the five-year period covered by the above table, annual income applicable to fixed charges averaged 1.57 times total fixed charges. Income applicable to fixed charges in 1929 amounted to 1.81 times total fixed charges. As $17,574,500 bonds being refunded by this issue bear interest at the rate of 7%, a substantial saving in interest charges will result in respect of bonds issued for refunding purposes.

SECURITY The Refunding and Improvement Mortgage, under which $100,000,000 of 5% bonds will be outstanding upon the issuance of these Series of 1930 Bonds, is a direct lien on the entire 635 miles owned in fee, including the important mileage crossing the State of New York from Piermont on the Hudson River to Dunkirk on Lake Erie. It is also a lien upon the Company's rights by stock ownership and/or leasehold in 1,284 miles of road, or substantially all the rest of the mileage of the System. The Mortgage is further secured by a lien on the capital stock of the Pennsylvania Coal Company, which leased as of January 1, 1930 to The Pittston Company, the anthracite coal properties formerly operated by it and Hillside Coal and Iron Company. The lien of the Refunding and Improvement Mortgage on the above-mentioned mileage, leasehold and other rights, and pledged stock is subject to the liens, so far as they attach, of underlying mortgages and a collateral trust indenture securing $161,374,200 bonds outstanding in the hands of the public.

EQUITY The Company's capital stock, consisting of $47,994,400 par value First Preferred Stock, $16,000,000 par value Second Preferred Stock, and $151,116,100 par value Common Stock, has an aggregate indicated market value, based on current quotations, of approximately $129,000,000. In 1929 dividend payments at the rate of 4% per annum were resumed on both the First Preferred and Second Preferred Stocks.

The foregoing is subject to the more complete statements contained in the circular, a copy of which may be obtained upon request.

THE ABOVE BONDS ARE OFFERED, SUBJECT TO PRIOR SALE AND TO THE CONDITIONS STATED BELOW, AT 95% AND ACCRUED INTEREST, TO YIELD OVER 5.25% TO MATURITY.

The right is reserved to reject any or all applications, and also, in any case, to allot a smaller amount than applied for. All applications will be received subject to the due issue and sale of Bonds as planned, and to approval by counsel of the form and validity of the related documents and proceedings.

A moment later, without warning, a ragged volley was poured into the ranks of the Waziri. The latter, justly famed for their archery, loosed their slim shafts at the nearest of the enemy Arabs and blacks fell headlong. But Achmet Zek's forces were greater and soon the bloodthirsty horde was racing through the yard and mounting the veranda. Here a dozen more fell to the arrows of the defenders but the majority reached the barred door.

Heavy gun butts fell upon it. The crash of splintered wood mingled with the report of a rifle as Jane Clayton fired through the panels upon the relentless attack. At last the frail barrier crashed to the vicious attack and a dozen warring murderers leaped into the living-room. The Arabs raised their rifles to fire a volley that would end all resistance, when Achmet Zek roared out a warning order that staid their trigger fingers.

"Fire not upon the woman!" he cried. "Who harms her dies. Take the woman alive!" Swords flashed, long-barreled pistols roared out their sullen death doom. Achmet Zek himself pulled the trigger that felled the brave Mugambi to the floor at the feet of Lady Greystone. An instant later she was disarmed. Without a word they dragged her from the bungalow. A giant Arab lifted her to his saddle and rode with her beyond the gates.

The raiders searched the whole place for plunder. Jane saw them lead the horses from the corral, and drive the herds in from the fields. Then she saw the torch applied and the flames lick up her beloved home. And at last when the Arabs assembled about gutting their fury and their avarice, and rode away with her toward the north, she saw the smoke and the flames rising far into the heavens until the forest trail hid the sad view from her eyes.

Atlantan Addresses Firemen of Florida

VERO BEACH, Fla., April 7.—(AP) Addresses by State Senator A. W. Young, Vero Beach, and W. D. Cates, Atlanta, representing the Southern Underwriters, featured the opening day's program to a close. The convention will continue through Thursday.

The addresses followed an impressive memorial service conducted by the women's committee of the Key West fire department and welcoming talks by officials of the city of Vero Beach. E. A. Westra, Miami, president of the association, was in charge of the meetings.

A costume street parade, fireworks and a street dance tonight brought the opening day's program to a close. The convention will continue through Thursday.

Robert Elliott Wins Oratorical Tryout

Robert Elliott, senior in the liberal arts college and veteran debater, won the Emory oratorical tryout held in the theology conference Monday night. He will represent the university at the Georgia contest to be held at Oglethorpe this month.

Other speakers who were heard at Emory Monday night were Lloyd Kingsbury, Ed Vinson, Ed Worthing and Alec Wynn.

The national contest in Georgia is sponsored by The Constitution. Elliott was the Emory representative who went into the regional contest held in North Carolina last year.

Confession by Negro Solves Girl's Murder

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 7.—(UN)—The brutal and mysterious murder of 12-year-old Dorothy Anne was solved today. The confessed slayer, Andy Mann, 21, a South Minnesota native, was sentenced to life imprisonment in the state penitentiary to serve a life term on another murder charge. He had been charged with the murder of a girl in 1927.

The little girl was hacked to death last summer, her body was bound with wire, stuffed in a burlap sack and thrown in a South Minnesota gutter. The slaying aroused the Twin Cities to such a pitch that a nationwide search was conducted for the slayer for months afterwards.

Then, day before yesterday, the bullet-riddled body of Earl Tague, 16, was found. Mann was arrested Saturday night, then confessed that he killed Tague and admitted under further questioning today that he murdered the Anne girl. He also admitted voluntarily that he set fire to a shack last week to cause the death of Bob Howard, aged negro.

MORTUARY

MRS. WILLIE NELSON, 57, of 1011 Bldg., died at Grady hospital Monday afternoon following a brief illness. She is survived by her husband, W. Nelson. Protection Is Asked For Planning Office

Refusal of R. W. Torras, engineer-secretary of the city planning commission, to sign a bond for his office on the grounds that it is not an agency of the city, has caused the city council to take action to protect the office.

Mr. Torras addressed a letter to Mayor J. N. Eggleston setting out that there is no partition between his office and that of the construction department.

"While I would not hesitate to sign the bond, I feel that protection is not only to me but to the construction department as well and that some provision should be made to correct this condition," Mr. Torras said.

Couple at Hospital, Residence Is Robbed

While Mrs. J. B. Anchors, of 1046 Oxford road, was visiting her husband at a private hospital Monday night, three burglars, who entered the residence by prying open a rear door, bound and gagged a 13-year-old negro servant and escaped with three revolvers belonging to Mr. Anchors.

Phillip Vrooman, a roomer, who entered the home shortly after the thieves left, liberated the little negro.

City Council Moves For Gas Protection

City Attorney James L. Mayson Monday was instructed by council to continue to protect the interests of Atlanta consumers of natural gas by insisting that the auxiliary plant, manufacturing artificial gas, be kept intact in case of an emergency.

Mr. Mayson submitted a letter from the auxiliary service commission setting out that it is the intention of the Atlanta Gas Light Company, distributors, to keep the plant intact for an emergency.

Several members of council scored the quality of gas and the "high price" charged when Atlantans were promised a reduction in rates and a better quality product.
